CAL'S STATE NOT CERTAIN FOR HOOVER

Massachusetts Battle Indicates Largest Vote in American History

RELIGION, BOOZE ISSUES "Battle of Century" Slogan More Appropriate Than Ever Before

(With this dispatch David Lawrence starts a survey of public sentiment in the pivotal states of the campaign from the disinterested standpoint of a neutral observer viewing the presidential contest objectively.)

Boston, Mass., — Four years ago Massachusetts, proud of her favorite son, Calvin Coolidge, registered a big vote. But already the registration of both the Democratic and Republican parties exceeds that of 1924. If the Bay state can be taken as an index, the largest popular vote in American history will be cast this year.

This is not intended to be a forecast of Massachusetts or an indication as yet of the trend, for that is exactly what can not be determined in September, but enough has happened to set down these fundamental points:

First, Massachusetts is a doubtful state and the Republicans will privately express their fears but publicly will claim a substantial majority. Conversely, the Democrats are confident but it is the kind of confidence that is mingled with distinct apprehension lest the lead they feel they have today may not last till election.

"RELIGION AND BOOZE"
Second, the two biggest issues in the campaign are, as one editor expressed, "religion and booze" — a strange combination but a powerful one.

The personalities of the two rival candidates are important in attracting and holding a following but so is the tariff and so is the economic condition of New England. But more voters are being influenced by the war, more by traditional lines because of religious prejudice, on the one hand, and the prohibition controversy, on the other, than by any other single factor or group of factors in the campaign.

Third, both sides have already done in July and August more intensive work in getting out the vote than is normally done in a couple of campaigns.

In short, the trite characterization — "the battle of a century" — which so often is applied to a big contest, more properly applies to this political race than any other since the century turned.

Examining the effects of the two issues — religion and prohibition — the interesting thing so far disclosed is that while both have begun to tear apart the usual voting trends, nevertheless there is a changelessness about them both which is disconcerting.

MANY CHANGE VIEWS
For instance, many Republicans who impudently took the dry issue to be paramount and showed a desire to vote Democratic for the first time in a life time are beginning to be affected by the argument that it might not be worthwhile to change from one administration to another because of prohibition and that the subject is not partisan nor presidential but really congressional.

In any event the Republican workers are trying that tack with some success, for it is useless in these wet states to take the dry issue as an argument in order to win votes for Hoover. To argue about it is only to provoke the wets still more — for those who by conviction are dissatisfied with the present prohibition situation feel it deeply and are only made angrier when attempts are made to persuade them that perhaps prohibition isn't as bad as it is painted.

SIDETRACK PROHIBITION
So the strategy, especially in the cities, is to divert attention from prohibition to the consequences of Democratic rule — an argument much more easily absorbed because it has been credited before by the traditional Republican.

As for the Democrats, they are not so busy trying to persuade Republicans to change their votes as they are in finding the people — and there are millions of them — who would normally be Democrats if they ever took the trouble to register and go to the polls. That's where money will count most, for it takes hired workers who will work day and night to find the Smith Sympathizers and pledge them to register. It is possible for Massachusetts to go Democratic entirely on the basis of new votes.

The intensive drive to corral the voter who has hitherto neglected his duty is the most outstanding fact revealed thus far about this presidential campaign.

ROWLAND HEADS EAST-WEST FLIGHT

Heavy Rains In South Cause River's Overflow

KOHLER HAS MAJORITY OF 21,000 OVER BECK

Milwaukee — (P) — Reports from all but 58 precincts Friday gave Walter J. Kohler, a majority of 21,000 over Representative Joseph D. Beck, in the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette on the basis of returns from 2,648 precincts out of 2,760 had a majority of 151,000 over George W. Mead, of Wisconsin Rapids.

The vote for governor: Kohler 221,396; Beck 199,634; Governor Zimmerman 81,808, and John E. Ferris 4,421.

The vote for senator: LaFollette 307,654; Mead 156,135.

Movie War In Chicago Now Ended

Conference of Officials and Employes Results in Agreement

Chicago — (P) — Peace reigns and the music in Chicago movie theatres still lives. A 24-hour conference between officials of the theatre owners and the musicians' federation ended Friday in "victory for both sides" and assured the public a threatened strike of all union theater employees would not take place.

The theater owners met the demands of the musicians by agreeing to employ an orchestra of four men in theaters which had installed the "talking movies" and the musicians met the demands of the owners by agreeing to a working schedule for a season ranging from 10 to 44 weeks, instead of a full-time 44-week schedule.

The dispute which for a time threatened to close up the theaters reached a climax on Labor day when musicians employed in about 250 neighborhood theaters refused to go to work.

After their contracts expired on Sunday they demanded a new agreement calling for the use of orchestras despite the talking movies but the owners said such an agreement would bankrupt them. Under the compromise reached the smaller theaters will have an orchestra only part time.

BADGER FOUND GUILTY IN MURDER OF CHILD

Sturgeon Bay — (P) — Matt McOlash of Sturgeon Bay, late Thursday night was found guilty of first degree murder for the killing of an illegitimate child of which he was admittedly the father, one day after it was born.

The verdict, returned by a jury after five hours' deliberation as the climax of two days' testimony, establishes the youth jointly guilty in the slaying with Mrs. Blanche Ostram, grandmother of the unwanted child. Mrs. Ostram had pleaded guilty to the charge.

The baby was born to the unwed mother, June 6. According to the coroner, who was the first to investigate the death of the child, he found the body of the infant buried in the chicken yard back of the Ostram home.

TWELVE FIREMEN HURT IN COLORADO FLAMES

Denver, Colo. — (P) — Twelve firemen were injured, four seriously and ten others overcome by smoke were rescued, when fire caused $150,000 damage to the loop market block in the downtown district here Thursday night.

One fireman narrowly escaped death when a section of a floor caved in dropping him to the basement. Fellow firemen lowered a hose line and pulled him out. He was cut and burned severely.

TWO ELECTROCUTED FOR ATTACKING THREE GIRLS

Huntsville, Tex. — (P) — Equivalents of the "Three Little Pigs" and "The Three Little Kittens" were electrocuted in the state penitentiary here Friday morning.

Two men, identified as Equivalents of the "Three Little Pigs" and "The Three Little Kittens," were electrocuted in the state penitentiary here Friday morning.

$5 FINE? KEEP $4 CAR, IS HIS PLEA TO COURT

New York — (P) — Benjamin Mackis was fined $5 for violating a parking law.

"Judge," he protested, "I'd rather leave the car."

"How much did you pay for it?" "Four dollars."

"It's useless to the court. Sentence suspended."

HOLDS LEAD FROM START IN NEW YORK

Pittsburg Man Second, Byron, Wis., Flier Third in Class A Race

BULLETIN
Fort Worth, Tex. — (P) — Earl Rowland of Wichita, Kansas, flying a Cessna A monoplane, led the transcontinental Class A. Air racers into Fort Worth Friday from Kansas City. He landed at the municipal airport at 1:07 p. m.

Wichita, Kans. — (P) — Earl Rowland, Wichita pilot, led the Class A fliers in the transcontinental air derby into his home airport here Friday morning.

Rowland, who has been leading the race since its start at Roosevelt field, New York, Tuesday, flew his Cessna A monoplane from Kansas City to Wichita in one hour and 26 minutes, unofficial time.

An enthusiastic crowd greeted Rowland as he zoomed over the field to a perfect landing and climbed out of his ship to report to the judges. His plane had been performing perfectly, he said.

Rowland's official landing time was announced at 8:35:40, by the judges.

DAKE IS SECOND

Robert Dake of Pittsburg, who took off from Kansas City in his American Moth plane at 7:01, landed at 8:50:33. Dake made a rough landing, his plane side slipping somewhat as it came to earth.

Clear skies greeted the fliers here, but the leaders reported stormy weather this side of Kansas City and stiff headwinds in the higher latitudes.

Officially, Rowland had increased his margin of lead to 51 minutes and 53 seconds over Dake.

The planes made a 30 minute stop here before taking off for the next stop, Oklahoma City, in Friday's flight to Fort Worth, the third night control.

Following Rowland and Dake in landing at the Wichita airport, in order of their arrival were S. L. Wittman of Byron, Wis., in his Pheasant; Emory Jr., Bradford, Pa., Travelair; and Theodore W. Kenyon, Boston, Challenger.

JOHN COOLIDGE TO WORK FOR EASTERN RAILROAD

New Haven, Conn. — (P) — Buckland vice president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, Friday confirmed reports that John Coolidge will enter the service of the road. His statement was as follows:

"The matter of employment of John Coolidge is having favorable consideration. It is his desire to begin at the bottom and depending solely upon his own efforts, to work his own way up and learn railroad work."

"What kind of a job he will have or where he will be located is not yet determined."

BAD WEATHER DELAYS CLASS B PLANE RACES

Roosevelt Field, N. Y. — (P) — On account of unfavorable weather, Class B races of the New York Los Angeles air derby were again postponed Friday. Weather permitting, the planes will attempt to get away at 6 o'clock Saturday morning.

THREE PARTIES AFTER REEDSVILLE RESIDENT

Reedsville — (P) — The old Biblical reading that a man cannot serve two masters means something to John V. Lewis of Reedsville. When returns from Tuesday's primary were sorted, he found he had been elected by the Democratic Prohibition, and Republican parties for committee man. He had decided to accept the Republican nomination.

MISSING RICE LAKE MAN REPORTED SAFE

Rice Lake — (P) — John Peterson, 73, retired sawmill operator who was lost in the woods near Wausau since Wednesday morning, was found late Thursday in a dazed condition, eight miles from where he was last seen. His companions on a berry picking trip.

REED TURNS DOWN "HONOR" — HE'S FOR SMITH IN CAMPAIGN

Minnetonka, Wis. — (P) — Being nominated for vice president by the Farmer-Labor party means absolutely nothing in the life of Senator James A. Reed, Missouri. "I am a Democrat," he told reporters while resting from his work of assembling a 48th pole. "Everybody knows I am a Democrat. As soon as I have attended to this fishing I am going out to campaign for Al Smith."

Mr. Reed remarked: "If I had been there, I would have nipped it in the bud plenty quick." He added that he was not even certain what the Farmer-Labor party was when he was informed of his nomination.

SMITH TO SPEAK AT MILWAUKEE, SEPT. 29

Raskob Announces Itinerary of Candidate on Invasion of West

New York — (P) — Governor Smith will make six formal addresses in as many states on his trip west, starting Sept. 16. COURT HEARS STORY OF FATAL SHOOTING BY L. B. UNDERWOOD

Judge Must Decide if Defendant Will Be Tried on Charge of Manslaughter

The prosecution completed its testimony at the preliminary hearing of Lyman E. Underwood, 314 E. Hancock-st., in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Friday morning. Underwood is charged with fourth degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Raymond Fransway on July 13, who died of a revolver wound inflicted by Underwood, who shot when he mistook him for a prowler.

Fransway had been searching for worms in the garden in the rear of Underwood's residence. Underwood and his wife live in a flat on the second floor of the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rockstroff, 314 E. Hancock-st. Mrs. Rockstroff and Mr. Fransway are sister and brother. Mrs. Lucille Van Wyck, a daughter of the Rockstroffs and a niece of Fransway was retiring when she saw her uncle's flash light moving about in the bushes just outside her window.

Alarmed, she ran to the telephone, she testified, and tried to call Fransway, who lives next door. There was a light in his room and she believed he was there. When she was unable to arouse him she telephoned to Underwood upstairs and told him there was someone moving about the back yard with a flash light. He answered "Right. Just a minute," according to Mrs. Van Wyck's statement.

A few seconds later she heard him call "Who's down there and what do you want?"

Immediately after hearing the call she heard the shot, she said. Then her uncle called and she recognized his voice and called the doctor and the police. Underwood called an ambulance.

Mrs. Van Wyck said she had become frightened on seeing the light in the back yard because there had been numerous instances of prowlers and "window-peepers" in the neighborhood. She said she knew her uncle had intended to go fishing the next morning and that he often hunted for worms in the garden at night but never as late as on that night.

F. J. Schubert, 315 E. Winnebago-st., whose back yard adjoins that in which Fransway was shot told her he had seen Fransway's light moving about the yard but had not been alarmed. He said he heard Underwood call:

"What the hell are you doing here?"

The words had scarcely been completed when a shot rang out, he said.

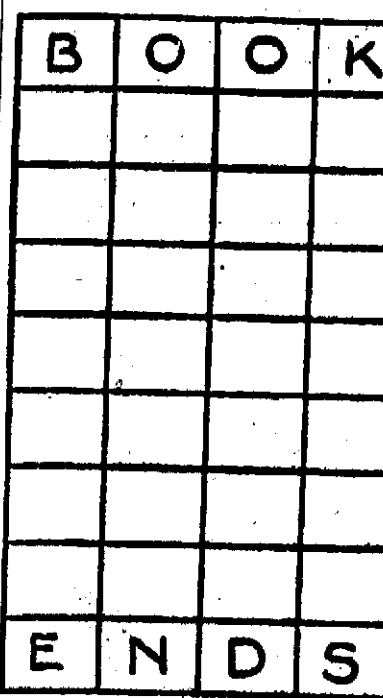

Other witnesses who testified for the prosecution were Police Chief George T. Prim and Officer Albert Delgen, who told of being called to the scene and of their investigations; Dr. V. F. Marshall told of attending the wounded man; Mrs. Rockstroff corroborated the story of her daughter; and Mrs. Schubert told a story similar to that told by her husband.

The first witness to take the stand for the defense was R. M. Connelly, an engineer, who explained the physical makeup of the yard where

LETTER GOLF

ONE FOR THE LIBRARY

Today's puzzle is a type of indoor golf—it's played in your library with BOOK ENDS. For the attempt is eight, but you may be able to shoot even more accurately than that. One solution is on page 3.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

FIND BUT ONE ERROR IN PRIMARY BALLOTS

With the official canvass of the ballots cast in the primary election on Tuesday half finished Friday noon John E. Hantschel, county clerk, reported that but a single error had been detected and that was a minor one which took away five votes from F. F. Wheeler, candidate for district attorney.

The town of Shiocton had reported 65 votes for Wheeler through an error in addition. The vote should have been 60 and the discovery gives Stanley A. Stidl, who won the Republican nomination for district attorney, a lead of 53 votes over Wheeler.

Mr. Hantschel said that the election clerks had been more efficient in their work this year than ever before. He expects the canvass will be completed by Saturday noon.

Fransway was shot. Underwood is expected to take the stand in his own behalf Friday afternoon.

Dr. F. J. Huberty wishes to announce the opening of offices MONDAY with Dr. Kolb, Dentist, on the corner of State St. and College Ave., above Schlitz's for the Practice of Medicine, Surgery and Obstetrics.

TWO PAY FINES FOR STEALING TOOLS

Mason's Complaint to Police Results in Arrests on Petty Larceny Charges

Wilbur Baudoin, 225 E. McKinley-st. was fined $10 and costs and Mike Mayefeske, 340 Sixth-st., Menasha, was fined $15 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Thursday afternoon when they pleaded guilty of petty larceny. They were charged with stealing a set of mason's tools from a house at the corner of Union and Commercial-sts Wednesday night.

The two men were arrested at Neenah by Sergeant Mathew McGinnis and Officer Albert Delgen about noon Thursday after Paul Noffke, 1527 N. Alvin-st., reported to police that his tools, valued at $20, had been taken from the house where he had been working. The officers investigated and traced the theft by a description of the car in which Baudoin and Mayefeske had carried away the tools. The tools were recovered.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Increasing cloudiness; probably thundershowers tonight or Saturday in extreme north and in central and south portion; warmer tonight, and in extreme southeast Saturday, with cooler in northwest.

GENERAL WEATHER

The low pressure over the northwest is advancing eastward slowly, being centered this morning over the Red River of the North valley. It is causing no appreciable rains yet and but little cloudiness, but it is accompanied by high temperatures over the plains states. It should cause moderate to mild temperature in this section tonight and Saturday as it advances, with increasing cloudiness and probably local thundershowers on Saturday. The only rains of consequence during the past 24 hours have been from the Appalachians eastward.

WEATHERMAN PREDICTS RAIN FOR SATURDAY

Wet weather is on the way and Appleton people had better dust off their slickers, umbrellas and rubbers and get them ready for use. Showers and thunderstorms are due to arrive here by Saturday afternoon, the weatherman says in his predictions for the next 24 hours. The mercury is due for a climb.

Showers with rising temperatures are predicted throughout the midwest. Fair weather will continue to prevail until Saturday in the upper and lower lake regions, he says. Winds are in the south and southwest in the upper lake regions and in the lower regions they are shifting in the south.

The mercury registered 62 degrees above zero at 6 o'clock Friday morning and 72 degrees above zero at noon.

GUARDSMEN ORDERED TO RANGE ON SUNDAY

Members of Co. D, 127 Infantry have been ordered to the company range northwest of the city Sunday morning to fire machine gun and pistol qualification tests. Several men will be instructed in use of the rifle after other firing is completed. The men will report at the armory at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

SEE EARLY END TO STOLEN OFFICE ROW

Prospective Change in Governors May Prevent Appeal to High Court

Madison—(AP)—The famed "Stolen-Campbell" office row may be ended soon. An appeal to the state supreme court may not be taken, because of a prospective change in governors.

O. A. Stolen, state humane agent, and A. D. Campbell, chief clerk of the state land commission, housed in the same office in the lower floor of the state house, disagreed on politics and minor things.

They moved Campbell into smaller offices. "They" were the state capitol housing committee, consisting of Gov. Zimmerman, the state architect and C. B. Ballard, state superintendent of public property.

The land commission, composed of the political faction opposed to the governor, and made up by the state treasurer, secretary of state and attorney general, appealed to a Dane-co court and asked reversal of the decision of the housing committee. The court, however, refused this reversal and said that the committee was supreme in the placement of officers in offices.

So the land commission contemplated an appeal to the state supreme court to give Mr. Campbell back his spacious quarters, which he held in toto before Mr. Stolen was appointed. He insisted into the smaller offices into which he had been moved were not of sufficient floor space to take care of the large safes and desks that were needed to carry on the land commission office duties.

The taking of an appeal to the

SCHEDULE MEETING OF HIGHWAY COMMITTEE

Members of the Outagamie-co highway committee will hold a regular meeting at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the office of A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, at the courthouse. Bills will be allowed and other routine business matters will be transacted.

HOLD MAN IN JAIL ON

WORTHLESS CHECK COUNT

John Maack, arrested in Milwaukee last week on a charge of passing a worthless check for $20 in Appleton more than a year ago, is in the county jail under $500 bonds pending an investigation of his alleged offense. Maack, who had just completed a term in prison at Milwaukee for burglary and forgery, was re-arrested on his release and held for local police. He was brought to Appleton by Sergeant Mathew McGinnis and arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg.

state's highest bench is a serious matter, however, and requires some considerable writing in long legal documents and quotations from statutes and what not. Then the campaign came along and no one seemed to remember the fight between Messrs. Stolen and Campbell; all members of the land commission were campaigning for re-nomination, including attorney general Reynolds, who would be required to draw up the necessary appeal sheets.

Now Governor Zimmerman has been defeated for re-nomination. He can't very well be the next governor, so the identity of the housing committee is in question.

The other officers are: Monitor, Marie Pawlowski; correspondent, Joseph Martell; banker, Edward Grogan; warder, Moses King; marshal, Wilmer Werner; sentinel, Mrs. Frank Lenz; supervisor for three years, Daniel Werner.

Mrs. Albert Berndt entertained the Jolly club Thursday evening at her home 335 Ahnapee. Self-klopf was played and the honors were won by Mrs. William Meyer and Mrs. Frank Lickert. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Anna Engelman, Third-st.

REELECT MAYER GRAND
KNIGHT OF K. OF C.'S

Menasha—John Mayer was reelected grand knight at the meeting of Nicolet Council No. 1838, Knights of Columbus, Thursday evening. Other officers elected were: Vice grand knight, John Powers; chancellor, Mike Boden; financial secretary, Fred Schreiber; corresponding secretary, Frank Burroughs; treasurer, Victor Suess; warden, Konrad Murphy; inside guard, J. Cyril Hyland; outside guard, A. Kosor; trustee for three years, William Austin.

Preliminary arrangements for the opening of the bowling season were discussed at a definite action was taken. The majority of members favored the organization of a league of 12 or 14 teams. Enough new members have been taken in during the year to warrant that number of teams. The date of the opening of the bowling season will not be fixed until the alleys in the new theatre building are completed, which will be about the middle of next month.

ENROLLMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL REACHES 244

Menasha—The enrollment at Menasha high school was 234 at the opening of school Tuesday. Since then 10 additional students have enrolled, bringing the attendance up to 244.

MAY HEAT MEMORIAL BUILDING IN WINTER

Menasha—The park board held a meeting Thursday evening at the new Memorial building at Menasha park and practically decided to install a heating plant in the Memorial building. Many requests have come to the park board to keep the building open during the winter.

COUNCIL BLOCKS
CONSTRUCTION OF
WALK ON FIFTH-STTie Vote of Aldermen Is Decided by Mayor, Who Votes Against Work

Menasha—Mayor W. E. Held took advantage of his right to decide a tie vote at an adjourned meeting of the common council Thursday evening by casting his ballot opposing construction of a sidewalk on Fifth-st. The vote was taken a few minutes before midnight after a lengthy discussion. Before voting he inquired of Alderman Small, chairman of the finance committee, if there were funds with which to defray the expense and upon learning there was not he announced he would vote against it.

The sidewalk matter was taken up after a long wrangle over narrowing of the walk on Main-st in order to make it possible to park cars at an angle of 45 degrees. Owing to a misunderstanding as to the cost of the undertaking many property owners were opposed to the council's plan at the last meeting but Thursday night, after being put straight on the question, practically all were in favor of it. On account of a shortage of funds the aldermen decided to start in front of Loeschner's hardware store and go no further west this year than to Grove's clothing store.

BALANCE IS $12,090.42

The monthly financial statement, read by City Clerk John Jedwabny, showed a balance of $12,090.42 in the general fund on Aug. 31. The balance of the water and light fund was $2,542.52. The public library fund has a balance of $16,518.91. The firemen's pension fund was $8,416.

In the cemetery fund there was $4,326.22, and in the recreation fund there was a balance of $3,031.65. The treasurer's balance was $100,149.65.

In commenting on the report, Mayor Held said it was up to the council to curtail expenditures. We have got to a point where it hurts, he said. This council is handicapped by an overdraft of $108,000. I want to impress upon the finance committee to take things seriously, the mayor said.

AID SIX FAMILIES

According to the monthly report of the commissioner of poor, six families were aided during August the extent of $57. The annual report of the industrial board of education was submitted and referred to the finance committee. It was to the effect that the amount of money needed for next year was estimated at $23,000, $14,500 of which is to be raised by taxation. The remaining amount comes from state and national sources.

A communication from G. W. Shea, manager of the Wisconsin Telephone company was to the effect that the Wisconsin Michigan Power company is about to remove its poles between Menasha and the municipal bathing beach and that if the city wants a telephone at the bathing house, as was the case last summer, it would purchase the poles and make it possible to install one. The company was instructed to make the purchase as a telephone will be needed next season.

The contract for a cable to be used as a safety device for the protection of the public at the government dock at the corner of Racine and Main-sts, was awarded to the Whitmore Machine company at an expenditure of $202. An ordinance providing for installation of a meter system for supplying water to patrons was read and was held over until later meeting so as to give the aldermen a chance to familiarize themselves with it.

WILL ATTEND HEARING

Licenses for the sale of non-intoxicating drinks were granted to William Erhardt and Joseph Konetzke. J. H. Kuester, superintendent of water and light, and City Clerk John Jedwabny, Jr., were instructed to attend a hearing of public utilities at Madison on Sept. 11, with expenses paid. The city attorney was instructed to ascertain when the Wisconsin Michigan Power company expected to remove its tracks from the city.

Upon motion of Alderman Baldwin steps are to be taken to determine the location of street intersections and to fix lines accordingly. The mayor was instructed to interview Mrs. Pauer relative to using a certain block in the Fifth ward for playground purposes. As the result of a lengthy discussion it was moved and seconded that a resolution be drawn up asking the school boards for permission to use some of the school buildings for voting purposes in the Fourth ward it was decided to see if the Falcon hall can be secured.

The parking of cars at the corner of Ahnapee and Nymmetts was discussed at length, but no definite solution was reached. The fire and city hall committee was instructed to install a new boiler in the police station at an expenditure of not to exceed $300. The street committee was authorized to purchase 15 barrels of tar to be used on certain streets.

ST. JOHN SCHOOL TOO
SMALL, PASTOR SHOWS

Menasha—St. John school building is so overcrowded this year that the Rev. W. B. Polaczky pastor, said there is no question about a new school building being erected next year. The increase in attendance is so great that the pastor and sisters are resorting to all sorts of methods to find room for the children. This condition has been anticipated for some time and a portion of the funds for the new building have been raised. The new building is now a necessity and can no longer be put off, declared the pastor.

ARRAIGN KAUKAUNA MAN ON STATUTORY OFFENSE

Menasha—Louis Reipfeld of Kaukauna was arraigned before Justice F. J. Budney Thursday morning charged with a statutory offense. The plaintiff is a Kaukauna girl. Reipfeld was bound over to municipal court at Oshkosh and his bail was fixed at $1,000, while he was unable to furnish. He was taken to the county jail at Oshkosh to await his appearance in municipal court.

ELECTION BOOTHS,
OFFICIALS SCORED*Alderman Philipp Vogt Asks for Immediate Repair of Damaged Booths

Criticizing the condition of several voting booths last Tuesday, Alderman Philipp Vogt, Sixth ward, Wednesday night introduced a resolution at the common council meeting providing for immediate repair of such booths not in good condition.

His resolution was adopted and the grounds and building committee was instructed to carry out the work before the next election on Nov. 4. The election boards also came in for their share of criticism, but the council took no action in this direction. The chief fault found with a few of the boards was their alleged slowness, both in handling the voting lines and in counting the ballots after the polls were closed.

While the subject was before the council's attention, Alderman Charles Thompson brought up the matter of pay for election officials. He was of the opinion that the officials, who now receive $7.50 a day for their work, are underpaid in view of the long hours they must spend on election days. He suggested that the pay be increased.

There is a possibility that more booths may be added to those now in use to facilitate the handling of voters. The district attorney, Alfred C. Bosser, informed the council that the law requires an election booth for every 500 voters.

COMPILE BOOK LISTS ON HEROES, ANIMALS

Two book lists on hero and animal stories have been compiled by Mrs. M. Harriman, head of the children's department of the Appleton Free Public library. The lists are in pamphlet form and contain the titles of books and authors. It is impossible to keep books on animals and heroes in separate groups, and the booklets help to find them, according to Mrs. Harriman.

MR. KOHLER'S NOMINATION

The nomination of Walter J. Kohler for governor is both an important and hopeful event in Wisconsin politics and state government. It is a rare occurrence when a man of his type and caliber can be induced to suffer the offenses of modern politics in order to serve the public. Business competency and economy in state government are more important to the taxpayer and have a more direct relation to his welfare than any other factors in state affairs. Most of the states are badly in need of capable business executives, and few ever get them. A great majority of our governors are ordinary politicians, devoid of business genius and whose policies and acts while in office are determined almost entirely by political effects. That, along with incompetent legislators, costs the American people many millions of dollars annually.

Mr. Kohler's candidacy had but two things to recommend it. The first was his personal integrity and moral character, the second was his success in a large industrial undertaking. He had had no experience in office, but he took an active interest in civic problems so that he was more or less familiar with state government and its problems. It is to the credit of the people of Wisconsin that they so measured Mr. Kohler's qualifications for governor as to nominate him, and that they recognized in him exactly that type of citizen with which government is under-nourished and which it so clearly needs.

It is doubly to their credit that they did this in the face of brutal personal attacks upon Mr. Kohler and his business. Throughout the campaign he was misrepresented and assailed with falsehoods and innuendo. All of the dirty tactics of professional politicians were used to defeat him. Mr. Kohler's response to this was to keep his head and self-respect and to conduct an entirely clean campaign. His conduct emphasized his fitness for the office, and must have favorably impressed thousands of voters.

The campaign for Mr. Beck was entirely unscrupulous and deserved the beating it got. Not only would he have made a poor governor, but the methods he and his associates employed to obtain the office for him show that he is not fitted for the responsibilities of high office. The magic of the name LaFollette is still all-powerful in Wisconsin and may continue to be for years to come, but it cannot much longer be used to put in office machine politicians and incompetent public officials. Young LaFollette, knowing his own reformation to be secure, devoted all his time and energy to whip the voters in line for Beck. Blaine stumped the whole state for him and John Reynolds and other office-holders did their bit. It was a desperate attempt to force on the people a man who would do the bidding of this machine, and for the second time in two years it was received with a smashing and humiliating defeat. Twice in succession this ring has tried to dictate to the people of Wisconsin who should be their governor, and twice in succession this dictation has failed.

LaFollette, senior, did great things for Wisconsin, but the crowd that has succeeded him has maladministered the government for years and used public office for exploitation and personal benefit. They have injured Wisconsin throughout the nation and they have injured it at home. They have run riot with its finances and have been reduced to the extraordinary extremity of denouncing their own acts and policies to create the semblance of an issue on which to appeal for votes.

The state stands to get a new deal by the election of Mr. Kohler. That the people want a new deal all around is shown by the fact that the Blaine-LaFollette machine was repudiated by more than 100,000 votes. And this on top of a similar repudiation in 1926. Mr. Kohler will have a legislature with which he should be able to work, since the senate shows a housecleaning and the assembly is considerably improved.

Mr. Kohler will be confronted with many obstacles and heavy difficulties. There will be times when he will wonder whether efforts to establish a clean and efficient government will be worth the sacrifice, but if he persists, and refuses to yield to the pressure that will be brought to bear on him from many directions, he will be as successful as governor as he has been in business. And he will have the people with him. He must not forget that public good will and confidence are worth many times the support of self-seeking and designing politicians. His election goes without saying. Not only because of what he has done in private life, but because of his striking victory in the primary, he is the center of great interest throughout the state. He has an exceptional opportunity for distinguished public service. Under Mr. Kohler we shall be less radical but infinitely more progressive.

THE 100 PER CENTER ABROAD

Scattered all over Europe there is a considerable number of American men and women holding responsible positions, representing American concerns, who look with dread upon the approach of the 100 per cent American tourist.

The tourist American drops in on the working American. He doesn't bother to knock because he is the fourth cousin of a fellow who was in the working American's freshman class in college. He expects free eats, free drinks and is disappointed if the working American doesn't close up his desk, neglect his job and become a free guide, philosopher and friend.

Then the stock remark for the touring 100 per center to make is: "Guess it seems good to you to see a real American."

The fact is that Americans working abroad are real Americans, even more real perhaps than the 100 per center who comes to preach the hokum of American greatness and "the way it's done in America." To those who have lived abroad, and who know even better than the tourist how the old countries compare with the New World, this is not only tiresome, but exasperating. The American working in England knows that the British city governments are singularly free from graft; that the police are, on the whole, the most honest body of men in the world; that London is kept cleaner than almost any town in America. They know America's advantages, too. They know the general level of prosperity goes deeper in America and that the standard of living for all classes is higher.

The 100 per center's hokum doesn't sell well on the other side. His creed is based upon ignorance. That seems to apply here which the poet wrote of English patriotism:

"He knows not England who only England knows."

SOUTH POLE READING

Discussion of books to be taken to a desert island seems a little foolish at times. Nevertheless, books were considered an essential part of Byrd's equipment for his Antarctic expedition. A thousand volume library has been carefully selected with as much fore-thought as was given to supplies for the physical welfare of the party. Leaders of the expedition realize that men's minds need special care and nourishment under difficult exploring conditions.

There will be plenty of Bibles for the whole outfit. Then there are other samples of the world's great literature. Finally, there is a large proportion of the stirring type of fiction that makes the heart beat faster and takes the mind out and away from immediate surroundings to a thought-world of great and high adventure.

The south polar expedition looks to mere stay-at-homes like the biggest adventure of modern times. To the men with it it may often present dull and drab moments, hours or even days. It is for those monotonous periods that the thrilling fiction is to be on hand. It is a very wise provision.

One of the advantages of open air grand opera is that there are frequent postponements because of rain.

THE NOSE KNOWS

Many noses one sees these days may not know very much but they look pretty enough. Sometimes I wonder whether a nose is of any earthly use in protecting a person against perils in the environment. One's nose gives warning of the proximity of very, very dead things, but there seems dangerous. But is the nose so knowing when it comes to recognizing real dangers?

Winslow and Kilgler found 51,000 colon bacilli (these germs come from the intestinal canal of man or animals) and 42,500 streptococci (these germs are notorious factors of suppuration and septic or severe inflammation) in one little gram, barely a third of a teaspoonful, of dust taken from city streets.

A fellow shuffles a gram of dust while absorbing six miles of oxygen on the hoof in the city. What becomes of the 100,000 assorted germs he takes in with this dust? Dear me, just think of all the microbes one ingests in the peak of dirt each one must eat here in a life time!

For my part, I'm not going to worry about it at all. If the germs are still viable I am confident that the normal nasal mucus will tangle them up and soon terminate their dastardly careers.

Reassuring, if you are inclined to fret about such things, is the observation of Arnold, Ostrom and Singer, who made 400 tests on 42 normal persons, the nasal passages of each person being sprayed with an average of 20,000,000 such germs. From 90 to 95 per cent of the germs so applied were rendered nonviable (incapable of living or multiplying) within five to ten minutes. Good work for the nose. These investigators made sure the germs were not passed down the back of the throat, for swabs of this surface showed none of the germs going that way. They made as many as eight successive seedlings of the same bacteria at 30 minute intervals, yet the mucus secretion in the nose still carried on its very efficient disinfecting function with no signs of exhaustion.

Another observation made by L. Arnold, M. L. Ostrom and Charlotte Singer, is worth quoting. They found that persons placed in a cold room (temperature 45 F., humidity 30 per cent) has the same natural disinfecting power in the nasal mucus as persons in a room at ordinary temperature (70 F., humidity 70 per cent), but the same subjects when placed in a hot room (95 F., humidity 90 per cent) showed a retardation or failing of the protective process. To my mind the moral of this is plain—overheating predisposes to respiratory infection; exposure to cold does not.

People without much knowledge of physiology are prone to put considerable confidence in various antiseptic sprays, gargles, washes and the like, in preventing the respiratory infections. I have little or no faith in such practices, but I have considerable faith in the power of the normal secretions of the mucus membrane to take care of any disease germs that may find their way in there in spite of reasonable precautions about keeping out of range of the person who has the disease.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bimbo Whoops

My baby 3 months old has the whooping cough. Somebody advised me to take him to the gas plant and sit there an hour, and by doing this two or three times the baby would be cured. I had him to the doctor and he gave him whooping cough vaccine but it doesn't seem to do much good. (Mrs. S. C.)

Answer:—The idea that the air around a gas house is beneficial in whooping cough is an old one, though I have never observed any appreciable effects other than an hour or more in the open air anywhere will give "the vaccine" is usually given in several doses—perhaps you should return to the doctor for the second and third doses. I believe the "vaccine" is a valuable remedy even when the whoop has developed. Certainly it is a potent remedy if given before the illness develops. The more hours the baby spends out of doors, day and night, the better he will get along. See that he is properly protected from noise, molestation by other children, flies, and sun shining in his eyes, but otherwise sunlight on the bare skin is very beneficial. Try to find a cool place for the baby in the heat of the day. The baby should wear nothing but a diaper through these hot summer days, and only a light night or sleeping garment after sundown. A wide belly band made of stockinette, or better one made of firm muslin or soft linen with insertions of elastic webbing in the sides, and eyelets and a flap to lace at the back, is good in all cases of whooping cough, as it gives support during the spells and tends to shorten the spells and the illness.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 11, 1903

W. F. Saecker was elected second vice president at the twenty-second annual convention of the Funeral Directors and Embalmers association the previous day at Milwaukee.

At the tennis tournaments on the River View Country club courts Mrs. W. L. Conkey defeated Miss Edna Lake of Neenah the previous day. The next games were to be played between Mrs. Conkey and Miss Martha VanNortwick and Miss Elsie Bennett and Miss Halie Ramsay.

A number of young men met at the Sherman house the previous night for the purpose of making arrangements for a series of parties to be given during the fall and winter. A club was organized called the Crescent City club. Officers were president, J. E. Lebr; vice president, S. C. Shannon; secretary, W. H. Zuehlke; treasurer, W. F. Kampe.

'WAY DOWN YEAST!

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

FOR SUCCESS OR FOR LIFE

In one of his closely reasoned articles in a current periodical Henry Seidel Canby dissents from the strongly held and frequently expressed conviction that people on the average show greater discrimination in reading than they "useful books" now.

This idea is variously expressed by various people. In its most familiar form is to the effect that the reading of non-fiction has taken a great advance as compared with the reading of fiction. Take almost any librarian's report and the chances are that he points with pride to the fact that the percentage of non-fiction reading has grown and that of fiction reading has decreased. Rotary club speakers and preachers and school teachers often point with pride to the same thing. Instead of reading "An American Tragedy" or "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" they read the "Story of Philosophy" or "The Outline of History." This is counted to them as a virtue, though I, have never been able to do so, and I have frequently said so.

Therefore it is comforting to have a man like Canby voice a similar dissent. Only he goes a little further. Not only do people not show better literary and intellectual judgment by reading the fact-books than by reading what may be called literature, but they show less discrimination. Canby goes back to De Quincey's distinction between literature of knowledge and literature of power. Under the former he would class all such books as "The Story of Philosophy" and "The Outline of History." They would include some fiction and poetry as well as much non-fiction. Under the latter he would class the great novels, poems, dramas, essays, philosophical works, that the world calls "literature" in the restricted sense of that word.

The millions today are after facts—after the literature of knowledge. A book must contribute something to their immediate needs. It must contribute to their success in one form or another. The more great poems, the more great drama, the more great novel that only builds up their souls and not their pocketbooks or their position in society or in politics or professional life is somehow suspect, as if it is more or less of a dissipation.

As a result, says Canby, we have a book selling by the hundreds of thousands that tells us all the outstanding facts about the philosophies of the past, but no great book that distills a philosophy of life out of experience. We want to learn all the facts about religions and are comparatively careless about a great religious passion. We aim to learn from books the facts about how to be a success and then after success has come we don't know what to do with it. We are reading —broadly speaking—to learn how to learn how to succeed and we are not reading to learn how to live.

That, Canby holds, is in a general way a broad difference between us and the frequently despised Victorians. They deserved contempt in many respects but as far as reading went they had at least the merit of placing the emphasis on literature of power.

Canby classes a great deal of the fiction of the present in the category of the literature of knowledge rather than the literature of power. The novelists and poets are infected with the virus that stimulates the fact writers. They must tell their readers facts, they think, in the guise of fiction. As a result they approach their task notebook in hand and collect millions of facts, more concerned with their reliability as facts than with their meaning and their relevancy to the business of living.

Facts are worthy of respect and Canby does not despise them, provided they are not worshipped for their own sake. It is this worship of the present that he deprecates. In the long run the so-called literature of power gets men farther than the literature of knowledge.

A. The diameter of Antares is estimated to be about 200,000,000 miles.

Q. What symphony did Beethoven dedicate to Napoleon? T. N.

A. Beethoven originally inscribed his third symphony to Napoleon as the champion of human rights.

DAILY HEALTH HINTS

SHOW HOW OCCUPATION AFFECTS THE HEART

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The American Heart Association has developed statistics indicating the relationship of occupation to diseases of the heart.

Of 11 occupations in New York City, butchers had the highest per cent of death from heart disease with 23.5 per cent.

Tailors, clarkmakers and shoemakers were next, each with more than 25 per cent, which is the average for all occupations.

Clerical workers and painters had the lowest percentage of deaths of any workers examined.

Miners suffer severely with heart disease, tin and copper miners being affected more frequently than coal miners.

IN TEXTILE TRADES
It was found on investigation that textile workers in every branch of industry are subject to heart disease. This includes cotton card and frame tenters, cotton strippers and grinders, and workers in wool and worsteds as well.

The clothing industry does not show such a poor condition, although tailors and shoe operatives have high rates. Hat makers have even higher rates than boot work-ers.

These rates are still further exceeded by metal grinders.

LAWYERS LEAD
Among the professional occupations, lawyers have the highest rate, musicians next, and music teachers next.

Tuberculosis is no longer the leading cause of death among industrial workers, since deaths from heart disease now are greater. Since heart disease represents in most instances the results of infection with insufficient or incorrect care, early life, the way to prevention is

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — Rambling Through Manhattan: A friends pointed out to me an elderly lady with silver hair and wide-awake blue eyes, walking through the sedate thoroughfare of Murray Hill. . . . She is Mrs. Elizabeth Bacon Custer, widow of the famous general killed by the Indians on the Little Big Horn river 52 years ago. . . . Well on in her eighties, but she lives in the present. . . . Mrs. Custer enjoys musical comedies, and keeps up on the latest movies. . . . Frank Hoey, shepherd of Central Park, for 23 years tender of sheep and milker of cows in the metropolis. . . . All the pastoral pleasure of the farm, with Broadway a couple of blocks away. . . . "Ho, another hotel going up. . . . The hotels building this year represent an outlay of $28,000,000, I am told by the American Hotel Association, and increase Manhattan's capacity by 5800 more rooms. . . . Joe Walcott with a broom over his shoulder, going into a West Forty-fifth street theater. The old "Black Cyclone," welterweight champion for eight years, is a janitor now. . . . Joe's adversaries now are lumbago and rheumatism, but at 57 he still can smile widely. . . . Met Ida Bailey Allen, who has written enough cook books to fill the Congressional library. . . . "Modern wives, despite our humorists, know how to cook," says she. "The flap-jack of today is a better home-maker than the lady of the eighties. She's quicker and has more endurance and is smarter, too. She knows more about food values." . . . So up the street to watch a crowd around a slot machine that didn't work despite considerable punishment by the man who had inserted a quarter.

The penny-catching gamins of the New York streets have changed their act. Since the habitat and quick-change belt is Broadway, they have taken to Broadway tricks.

During the winter months, idlers standing about the lobbies between acts of the plays would be entertained by Charlestoning brats, whose ragged shoes soaked up the melting snow. Showers of dimes and quarters would greet each effort. . . . But the summer season sees these shrewd products of the Manhattan sidewalks appearing with make-up and costumes, even as the players of the theater. They slip on old derbies and fancy capes and trick out away coats and do their amusing with the aid of this "acccery." Several theatrical men have been closely observing them, with an eye to their future.

The New York telephone book is, perhaps, the only publication that competes with the Bible for general circulation. Millions are distributed with each new edition.

New York city has, I am told, more than 1,500,000 telephones. There are 1000 operators and they attend to 150,000 calls daily. One of the most trying jobs is that of the information operator. She has 3,400,000 phone listings filed with her—this representing all the possible names and numbers in the general metropolitan area.

The vogue for the New French type of phone has caused more real difficulties than was ever before faced by the busy crowd. I am told. They are more fragile than old style phones and are being continually reported "out of order."

Without any intent of intruding upon political issues, or arousing partisanship, or indicating any candidatorial favoritism. Without any intent of adding the voice of Oliver street to paens in praise of Al Smith—yet, and all, a walk in Oliver street is one that will send you away in a philosophic mood. Particularly, when you bear in mind that, out of this mealstrom of all nations and tongues; out of the poverty and joy and despair and dirt and vivid, seething life can come one who lives to cast his shadow upon the White House—whether or not he achieves it. POLICE OFFICERS SHIRKING DUTY, GMEINER CHARGES

Third Ward Representative
Takes Department to Task
for Alleged Laxity

Alleging laxity in law enforcement, Alderman W. H. Gmeiner, Third ward, Wednesday night took the police department to task at the meeting of the common council.

He charged that police officers are inclined to overlook more serious offenses and to lay too much stress on law infractions of a more minor nature.

Ordinances regulating speed, stops for arterial highways, and parking, are ignored too frequently, and in some cases the department has even failed to carry out the provisions of newly enacted measures, according to the Third ward representative.

In order to add weight to his contention, the alderman told of a personal experience he recently had with a member of the local police department.

He said that while he was in a nearby city one night a few weeks ago, his tail light went out. As all business places were closed at the time, he repaired the light himself, placing a green bulb in the receptacle instead of a red bulb. The green bulb was all he had, and he was unable to secure a red one.

Returning to the city, he experienced no difficulty with officers, although he passed through several municipalities, until he reached Appleton. Here he was stopped by a motorcycle officer, reminded that his tail light was not as it should be, and told to have it repaired the next day.

Alderman Gmeiner, somewhat incensed at what he believed to be unfair treatment, then toured the city himself for about an hour and a half to see if he could find any traffic violators, he told the council. And he said he saw enough to convince him that the police officers were not on the job.

Motorists were traveling up and down College-ave at anywhere from 30 to 40 miles an hour, according to his story. The same condition prevailed on S. Cherry-st, and in one instance he discovered one car traveling about 60 miles an hour.

Flagrant violations of the parking ordinance are just as numerous, the alderman charged. He reminded that there is an ordinance on the city's books limiting parking between certain streets on College-ave to 90 minutes.

"A casual survey of this street several times during the course of a day will prove beyond a doubt how lax our policemen are in enforcing this ordinance," he said. "Many cars are parked in this limited area almost all day long, yet nothing seems to be done about it."

"Sometime ago the council adopted an ordinance providing for the appointment of a dog catcher by the police department. As far as I know no dog catcher has been appointed as yet. Evidently the department knows better than the council what should be done."

"A few days ago a woman in my ward called me by telephone and asked me to get rid of a dog that was loitering about her house. I told her I thought that was the duty of the police department, but she answered that the department had informed her that this was the job of the alderman."

"This condition has gone along too long. It is time the council is making long. It is time the department, and correcting such faults as are manifestly evident."

No formal proposal was advanced by anyone, and the council took no action on the matter.

"FRESHMAN PERIOD" AT U. W. STARTS SEPT. 19

"Freshman Period" at the University of Wisconsin will extend from Wednesday, Sept. 19, to Tuesday, Sept. 25, and all Appleton students planning to enter the University are urged to arrange to arrive for this first week. The week's activities are under the direction of members of the Bureau of Guidance and Records, a new organization at Madison charged with the responsibility of adjusting the individual student to university life and its problems.

During the past year the bureau has worked primarily with the high schools of the state, seeking cooperation in the problem of bridging the gap between high school preparation and university requirement. The high schools are volunteering to present the University with a fund of valuable information concerning every freshman who matriculates in September, 1928.

Approximately two hundred faculty members have volunteered to offer opportunities for individual conference during Freshman period. Problems on how to study, the use of the library, choice of courses, and consideration of career will be discussed during this period.

Canada's imports from the United States in June were valued at $75,472,000.

FALL FROCKS DISPLAY THE POUCH SLEEVE

Paris—(AP)—Haute couture, which means the two dozen biggest dress-makers of Paris, is talking about "pouch interest" in fall clothes.

They mean that sleeves, after long subjection to the rest of the garment, have suddenly blossomed into things of importance, sometimes carrying almost the entire weight of decoration or novelty.

There are pouch sleeves, bell sleeves, sleeves of the maven age, cuffless sleeves, slit sleeves and saunter sleeves in the few collections. The pouch variety is most used for afternoon coats, evening wraps and house jackets. Paris' new name of negligees. Bell sleeves, sometimes elbow deep with fur, are a favorite coat form for winter, especially for the elaborate lame evening wraps which are shown by many houses.

The most conspicuous form of the saunter sleeve appears on evening wraps of velvet, where they are accentuated by heavy straps embroidered, nearly elbow high.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE circus kids got quite a treat when everyone was in his seat, for Coppy started his training act with lions, brave and bold. And then the next thing they knew, he did tricks with a tiger too. At first it sat upon a box and seemed to growl and scold.

"Now here, do what I tell you to," said Coppy. "I'm not scared of you." And then he cracked his little whip. The tiger calmed right down. It then stood on its big hind paws which shortly brought forth much applause. Then Coppy got a rope and made the monstrous tiger skip like a lion. Nearby, roared aloud and rather scared the circus crowd. But Coppy shouted, "All is well, I'll quiet him right quick." He snapped the lion with his whip and said, "No, don't you set so flip!" He made the lion jump right through a hoop.

"Was quite a clever trick."

Then Coppy came and watched a

Svelte Cloche Turbans for Winter Chic

BY BETSY SCHUYLER

NEW YORK — The summer season, like a sunset, grows more brilliant just before it disappears.

New York proper has a snap in it now, suggestive of the quickened walk of autumn. Svelte cloche turbans and irregularly brimmed fall hats are bobbing up here and there. Even fur-trimmed fall coats are coming in on all the liners.

But take a ride to the beaches. Summer still reigns supreme, with flowered chiffons, big floppy hats, gay bathing suits and accessories that shirk of brilliant sunlight blinding sands and the dazzling water.

GAZER THAN EVER

Newport has not been so gay all summer as this last fortnight. The regatta brought out everyone. White costumes predominated, with accessories in bright red, blues of the new medium colors and orange.

The preference for pink shown at Newport promises a great popularity for that color this winter. Carol Stevenson has a stunning pink plaid silk suit, with pleated skirt and cardigan, a plain flesh colored jumper and with it she wears pink sandals and a pink felt hat.

On these late August days golf finals and tennis matches promise quite as much excitement as the regatta and formal dances have in the past. Not that dances are over, by any means. Gowns for these events are quite long skirted, rather beating town clothes to it for new style.

Marian Wickes looked stunning one night in a diaphanous white gown, with the deep rounded neckline, and scintillating with brilliant. Fully as enhancing, I decided, as the smart riding togs one usually finds this clever horse woman wearing.

TURBANS THIS WINTER?

Costumes everywhere mark a decided interest in intricate cut and design. I saw Mrs. Henry Steele Roberts wearing a purple frock and hat that was intriguing. It featured pointed lines and sharp angles and yet was extremely graceful in its line. The neckline, for instance, was sharp and irregular, the skirt's yoke dipped in points and yet the double-tiered skirt, accordion pleated, flared to even length all around.

The turban headpiece is particularly becoming to the young. Any one would be convinced of its charm seeing Frederica Gallatin, with a medium blue silk kerchief wound round that fair head of hers. Judging by the skill with which many of these young women can wind up their own heads, I rather fancy the Parisian idea of using a piece of fine satin to fashion one's own turban may persist this winter.

Frederica wore a wide blue suede belt with a lighter blue frock, a belt with a very wide buckle. It was very smart.

The use of soft trimmings to give a feminine touch to sports things is a new line for informal clothes to adopt. Mrs. Harold Talbot wore an extremely smart one-piece lavender silk sports frock with angora in the same shade running around the neck, on the sleeves and cuffs.

CREPE DE CHENE NEW MATERIAL FOR SLIPPERS

Paris—(AP)—Crepe de chene has replaced satin as the smart material for evening shoes in Paris.

Only dull gold, or black satin, is holding its place for evening slippers. The pale shoes which are matched, or contrasted, with the delicately shaded velvets, laces and silks, indicated as fall's first devices for evening wears, are of a heavy quality of crepe de chene called crepe mongol.

Gold and silver kid slippers are still the first favorites for the hours of electric lights and gaiety.

Household Hints

OPEN-CRUST PIE

Fresh fruit pie is really more attractive when only one crust is used. Strips of crust can hold it side by side, or made open and serve with powdered sugar sprinkled over the top, it is delicious.

GELATINE SALADS

All left over fresh fruits and vegetables can be used to advantage if you put them immediately into a gelatine salad. Chill and serve at the next meal. Even berries are excellent in salad.

RUSTY STOVE

If your gas stove got rusty while you were away this summer, rub thoroughly with grease first. Remove, rub with coal-oil soaked rag and then shine with some old black cotton stockings or a piece of dark woolen goods.

SHOE TREES

Shoes are often stretched by having too large shoe trees inserted. Trees should be just the length of the shoe, as well as just as wide in the tip.

PAINT REMOVER

Paint stains on clothing can be removed by treating with equal parts of turpentine and ammonia. Wash it in white soapsuds when the stains are loosened.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I was just completely run-down. I had tired, heavy, sluggish feelings and I could not eat. I was losing in weight. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what a good medicine it is, that I started taking it. I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and about the same in tablet form. This is one medicine a woman should have in the house all the time. I am improving every day and I sure am able to eat. I am willing to answer any letters asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ELLA RICHARDS, 21 Chautauque St., N. S. Pittsburgh, Pa.

How To Play Bridge

BY Milton C. Work

MR. WORK'S POINTERS CONTRACT BRIDGE

We are today starting a series of Contract hands in which North and South go all the bidding. East and West passing whenever it is their turn to declare. Today we will consider a No Trump proposition. The hands follow.

South is the Dealer and the question is: how should the South and North hands be bid at Contract? Make up your mind before you read the explanation that follows.

THE BIDDING

South should bid one No Trump. He has three suits stopped with a hand counting 15 (on the basis of Ace 4, King 3, Queen 2 and Jack 1). He has three cards in his defenseless suit and he has no Major suit bid, so there is no question about the soundness of his No Trump.

North should bid two No Trump. Upon the basis of the above count, North's hand totals 9 and except that a two-Ace holding (counting 8) justifies a jump of partner's one No Trump to two, 9 is the minimum for that jump.

South, after North's two No Trumps, should bid three No Trumps. A one No Trump bid is justified by a minimum count of 18 (possibly in some cases 12; and when bid with the minimum or little better than the minimum a rebid should not be made after a jump by partner. In this case, however 15 (three points over the rock bottom minimum) warrants a jump to three after partner's jump to two; it is the lowest count that does so.

It is a close question whether South's hand will produce three-odd;

It depends upon the distribution of the adverse cards. When this hand actually was played, West opened by leading the Deuce of Hearts, Dummy won with the Ten, and led the Jack of Diamonds. The first Diamond finesse lost but the second won and Dealers consequently made one Spade, three Hearts, four Diamonds and one Club—contract.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week for about six weeks Mr. Work will present a most interesting and instructive series of Auction Bridge queries.

Start a contest in your family and with your friends on this special series. You will be rewarded with a greatly increasing knowledge of Auction Bridge and increased enjoyment from this great game. Tell your friends.

"THE ALBANY NIGHT BOAT"

"Don't be a fool! You won't have to pound a typewriter any longer if you'll listen to reason!" the man shouts as George struggles to free himself from his grasping arms.

The surface of the river a black mystery below her, the only light the blinding rays from the big searchlight on the night boat as it sweeps up the river! And while Ken and Steve, the light operators, trains his beams full on the little pleasure craft and the passengers breathlessly watch the drama unfolding there, a horrified gasp goes up. For George, squirming out of her employer's grasp, finds herself at the dock rail and as the man reaches towards her, she flings herself into the black water!

The light shows her slight figure disappear for a second beneath the surface and then struggle gamely with the swift current. But it is apparent she cannot swim. Just when the man on the yacht is staring in helpless fear and some of the passengers on the boat have turned away in horror from the sight, Ken dives into the river and swims towards the blindly struggling figure in the light's path.

And out of that episode grows the story of "The Albany Night Boat," the Tiffany-Stahl production showing at the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday, in which Olive Borden, Duke Martin and Ralph Emerson have the principal roles. "The Albany Night Boat" was directed by Alfred Raboch.

"THE CARDBOARD LOVER"

"American girl upsets Romance."
"Tennis champ saved from Siren's clutches."

LITTLE JOE

TO ACTORS A SMALL ROLE IS BETTER THAN A LOAF.

"Monte Carlo laughs at greatest comedy."

No, not newspaper headlines, just a birds-eye review of Marion Davies' most daring comedy, "The Cardboard Lover," which opened today at Fischer's Appleton theatre.

Miss Davies, of course, is the American girl—and what a girl. Nils Asther is the tennis champion—his first comedy role in American pictures and he makes the most of it. Jetta Goudal is the siren. Clad in a Paris wardrobe that would make Worth and Paquin green with envy, she also plays in the first comedy role since she has appeared on the screen.

It is as if the three of them conspired with Director Robert Z. Leonard to turn out a laugh fest they had been chuckling over for years. The result is a comedy that is ultramodern; the latest in sets, the latest in clothes and the latest in laughs—and staged in the most beautiful and interesting spot in the world, the pleasure ground of Monte Carlo.

Sally Baxter, the American girl, arrives at Monte Carlo, with a personally conducted party. She sees and admires the handsome champion who is held fast in the clutches of the vampire. While trying to get him to sign her autograph book, she innocently loses 10,000 francs to him at baccarat. As she can't pay, he makes her pose as his cardboard lover, to aid him in keeping the siren at a distance.

Then the fun begins. Carey Wilson, who adapted the story from the famous stage play of the same name and Director Leonard have turned out a story so amazingly funny that it can never be told in mere words. Suffice it to say that the audiences laugh until they are in need of silencers. If this was a talking picture, everyone would be laughing so hard they would never hear the words.

Miss Davies does super-excellent work as might be expected, while the rest of the cast, Asther, Miss Goudal, Andres de Segurcia and Tenen Holtz, keep pace with the fast comedy she starts.

It is a great picture.

HANTSCHER SENDS OUT HUNTING LICENSES

Hunting licenses and applications are being sent out to sporting good stores throughout the county where they will be for sale immediately, by John E. Hantscher, county clerk. The licenses were received by Mr. Hantscher Friday morning and are being sent to the various towns in the county as soon as possible.

RESCUED FISH SCARCE AS RAINS FLOOD RIVER

Due to recent rains which have swelled the waters of the Mississippi river to flood proportions, stopping fish-reclaiming activities of the state conservation department. Congressman George J. Schneider has been unable to fill requests of some of his constituents for rescued fish to plant in lakes and streams in their vicinities. Mr. Schneider received a letter from Colonel L. B. Nagler, conservation director, in which Mr. Nagler explained the situation. He said neither the state nor federal reclamation workers are able to continue their work and so no rescued fish were available. He said, however, if the waters receded sufficiently the work would continue.

The Brimline Sets the Pace In New Fall Hats

Newest Fall Felts $5

Every one representative of all that is smart for the well dressed woman. Expertly made of fine fur felts in every new style and in rich autumn shades of brown, tan, etc.—also black. Plain tailored or smartly trimmed. Large and small head-sizes.

It is by the brimline that you may tell the newness of the new fall hats. Borrowing their inspiration from the new creations of Maria Guy, Marie Alphon-sine and Caroline Reboux—they are smart to the nth degree. The swathed headline is represented — as well as the tiny turban. In new fall shades of brown, green, red, etc., as well as the ever-popular black. Plainly tailored or suavely trimmed—some with metallic ornaments. Large and small head-sizes. The prices are most moderate, ranging from

"LOVE FOR TWO"

by Ruth Dewey Groves
1928 By N. E. A. Service, Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BERTIE LOU WARD, on the eve of her wedding to ROD BRYER, feels a premonition of trouble at receiving a dagger-like paper knife from LILA MARSH, an ex-sweetheart of Rod's. She courageously resolves not to be jealous, but she receives another blow to her pride when she accidentally overhears one bridesmaid ask a girl if she thought the bride liked being a second choice.

The pain in her heart vanishes when Rod whispers "My wife" with a world of adoration in his eyes. They spend an ideal honeymoon and Bertie Lou forgets about Lila until they return and find her playing dictator in their apartment because she "knows what Rod likes."

The newlyweds settle down in their little place but too much hospitality upsets their financial budget. This worries Bertie Lou as does the persistent annoyance of Lila. So she is happy when Rod accepts a position in New York which has been offered by TOM FRASER.

They are anxious to make a good impression, so they live in an expensive hotel until they can find an apartment. Finally they locate three rooms but cannot get their furniture shipped from Wayville. So expenses continue to mount and MOLLY FRASER urges Bertie Lou to buy "smart clothes" and entertains so lavishly that they feel under obligation to take them out to nice places in return. Rod worries Bertie Lou by playing poker with Tom.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII
Bertie Lou hit upon the truth when she said that Molly did not like her. It would not have troubled her, however, had Molly not wanted to keep up the appearance of friendship.

Bertie Lou supposed it was for Rod's sake. Both the Frasers were very fond of him. And for that reason she made no effort to avoid Molly altogether, though she found it difficult to keep from offending her. "She's a throwback," she complained to Rod. "She doesn't seem to know that women can get more out of life without hypocrisy. Golly, I do miss the girls at home!"

It would have surprised her to know the real reason for Molly's dislike of her. It was partly, as she had guessed, her half-joking, half-serious remark about living within Rod's income. It had irritated Molly when she learned from Tom that Bertie Lou would do that of necessity. She felt that Bertie Lou had been posing as things that annoyed her most and changed her feelings toward Bertie Lou from a negative state to an active dislike, was Bertie Lou's complete refusal to recognize her importance as the wife of Rod's employer.

Molly was so fond of parade she was willing to sacrifice her desire to drop Bertie Lou in order to satisfy her age. She loved to feel that Bertie Lou must look up to her, whether she showed it or not. She'd have been happy if she could have made Bertie Lou tremble.

Bertie Lou didn't see any cause for being grateful to Molly on Rod's account. If gratitude was due it belonged to Tom, she felt.

She could see that Molly expected gratitude and attention, but she never guessed that her failure to give them was Molly's chief reason for disliking her. At times she thought it might be because Molly had such a strong affection for Lila that she didn't care for the girl Rod had married.

Bertie Lou never would have made a friend of Molly had the choice been left to her. But she found it not impossible to submerge her criticism of Tom's wife in her old friendship for him. Tom had been the big boy that seven-year-old Bertie Lou star-gazed at in school.

Now she was beginning to wonder, with Molly becoming difficult, if she could hide her opinion of her much longer. It irked her to be compelled to associate with a woman with whom she had nothing in common. An infrequent hour or two in Wayville had not mattered, as she said to Rod. But feeling that she must continue to see Molly just because Rod worked for her husband wasn't the sort of thing she expected of life. It was a compromise—something Bertie Lou hated in spite of the fact that she could, on occasion, force herself to it.

And, so knowing that Molly was sharpening the axe for her, Bertie Lou guessed the reason why she suggested Thursday as the night to accept Rod's invitation to a supper club.

Lila would be in New York then! And Rod, the big goof, would be host to her. Bertie Lou could have killed somebody that minute. Molly was getting even now for the many times Bertie Lou's wit had left her tripping lamely along, vaguely aware that Bertie Lou was laughing at her.

Molly saw the storm clouds on Bertie Lou's countenance. She knew that she had her on the teasing fork. Of course she didn't realize that Bertie Lou had read her mind like a full page ad or that she hadn't any more ammunition to fire. She decided to shove Bertie Lou a little closer to the fire.

"If we wait until Thursday Lila will be here," she said sweetly. And was greatly disappointed that Bertie Lou showed no surprise. And with her eyes still on Rod's bride she missed Rod's expression. The complacency he had shown earlier in the evening instantly disappeared upon his hearing of Lila's coming.

An innocent illusion went with it. Like Bertie Lou, he thought he could escape Lila in New York. But Bertie Lou had known better for several days; since she had discovered that Molly was antagonistic, but unwilling to end their camouflage friendship... and that she was keen for Lila. "She'll delight in throwing us together," she foresaw, but she did not mention her fears to Rod.

It came as a shock to him to perceive that Lila would loom large upon his horizon when she visited the Frasers. Having known it before-hand Bertie Lou was enabled to recover her composure much too soon to please Molly.

"That will be great," she said pleasantly. "I'm dying to go to a night club, but it will be more fun to have Lila along."

"Come on, let's go tonight," Rod urged.

"Certainly not," Bertie Lou objected. "We'll wait for Lila." Molly looked blank enough to bring satisfaction to Bertie Lou for her decision. She wouldn't have Molly telling Lila they were afraid of her... and she could see that Molly lost a little of her confidence... she seemed not so sure now that she could wound Bertie Lou. That helped.

Bertie Lou had never been to a night club and she didn't know what she was doing when she went gaily to the others in the company and asked if they all had next Thursday free. Very, very fortunately, as she was to learn later, they had not. One couple was going to Atlantic City for a long weekend. The other had a dinner engagement and a theater afterwards.

That left only the Frasers, themselves and Lila.

Bertie Lou offered Rod a tight lipped kiss that night. He felt guilty so he took it silently and very soon pretended to be asleep. What a dumb oyster he'd been to pull that club stuff!

Bertie Lou silently agreed with his silent opinion of himself. Only she thought it superlatives. To speak of it would surely precipitate a quarrel. Their first quarrel. She gulped a little over the thought of it. Things could never be the same again if she quarreled with Rod. But why, oh why, wouldn't he stop playing poker?

The next morning Rod volunteered to wire to her mother about selling the furniture. He wanted to make amends to Bertie Lou for his impulsiveness of the night before. It wouldn't be pleasant for her to have Lila in their party, he knew.

Bertie Lou came out of her gloom at the prospect of buying new furniture for the apartment. Nice as it had been to have so many things given them when they were married she believed she could achieve a more artistic home by selecting everything herself.

"We won't wait for the sale of the old stuff," Rod added. And neither of them smiled when they spoke of their furniture as "old." "We'll probably get about $300 for it. You can spend that much. But it leaves our bank balance with a very boyish figure, indeed," he ended.

There was one blot on Bertie Lou's happiness when she went out to select the furniture. She needed a new evening dress. Molly had lifted her pencil-thin eyebrows over the return appearance of the beige chiffon afternoon dress at evening affairs.

She'd have to buy a new dress for Rod's party. And it must be a good-looking one, nothing cheap. "But how can I get it?" she worried. Her own money, such as she had saved before her marriage, had all been spent for lilies and other furnishings for the flat in Wayville. And Rod couldn't spare the money for an expensive gown just now.

She thought of borrowing it from her father. But her parents, like Rod's, had opposed their moving to New York. She hated to confess they already were running short of funds. The problem was solved for her by a salesgirl in a store where she bought a pair of gloves. "Charge?" the girl said laconically as Bertie Lou absent-mindedly neglected to offer any money.

Charge! Why hadn't she thought of that? She made inquiries and was directed to the credit department. There she gave the name of Rod's employer and his address, as well as their own and was told the management would communicate with her shortly.

Bertie Lou thought she detected an expression of surprise on the face of the man she was talking with when she gave the name of her hotel. She knew the name of her New York now to appreciate the incongruity of a person in Rod's position making it his home. It wouldn't make them appear irresponsible, she hoped and thereby disqualify them as charge account customers of the store.

On her way out she was seized with a new apprehension that caused her to turn quickly in search of a telephone booth.

STATE SECRETARY OFFICE SUFFERS ILLS OF ELECTION

Expense Filing of Other Candidates Practically Swamps Force

Madison—(P)—The secretary of state's office is still suffering from election pains. Its chief Theodore Damman, was apparently renominated, and expects to be re-elected, so the office force has little to worry about on keeping jobs, but the expense filing of the other candidates are coming in so fast that the office is practically swamped, filing them. Mr. Damman submitted to himself, for himself, a campaign statement showing expenditures of $797.90, with receipts listed as $805.

The Democratic state central committee, filing its report at some length, reported that it had spent $2,976.64, but that receipts were so much in excess, leaving something for the November election start-off. Receipts were noted at $4,870.50.

John C. Shafer, running again for the congressional nomination, spent within twenty-five cents of the limit allowed him under the law. A candidate for such office may spend $1,750 in the campaign. Mr. Shafer's personal expense account, filed in detail, listed expenditures that totaled $1,749.75.

The Manitowoc-LaFollette committee spent about $325, its secretary reported.

Thomas Lingard, candidate for Congress in the third district, listed expenditures (personal) of $848.45. In each case, it was assumed that other expenses had been incurred in election or campaigning for the candidate, committee's almost invariably showing expenses that were not paid by the candidates.

John W. Reynolds, successful candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, showed the state department expenditures of $1,242.08, and listed receipts for his campaign fund of $438.

William Stafford, who ran for Congress in opposition to Victor Berger, spent $1,893.25, he reported.

John H. Nelson, third district congressman successful in obtaining the against Mr. Lingard and another, spent $419.90.

Walter B. Chilsen, of Merrill spent $566.81; Charles A. Kading, Watertown, spent $1,149.39. Otto Bosshard spent $1,453.

Henry A. Huber, successful candidate for the nomination as lieutenant governor, and present holder of that office, listed expenses of $247, and his committee reported expenses of $488.61 in his behalf. Harold L. "Pop" Plummer, one of his opponents, spent $689.03, the report shows. The other opponent, C. H. Werden, spent $193.52.

Sen. J. H. Carroll, again a candidate for the upper house of the legislature, reported expenses of $122.39. Henry A. Staab, assemblyman, who ran for the senate, received $553 in contributions, spent $488.51 personally and his committee spent $325.41.

Victor M. Stoltz, candidate for congress against Congressman Frear, reported that he put out $241.75.

Michael K. Reilly, democratic candidate for U. S. senator, listed expenditures amounting to $149.02.

John E. Ferris, good government league candidate for governor, who carried on a "gumshoe" campaign to win a few votes out of scattered parts of the state, reported to the secretary of state that his travels and incidentals amounted to $581.70. In addition he has a debt of $238.19.

The Kohler for Governor Club of Eau Claire reported expenditures of $182 and receipts of $205.

Victor Berger, Socialist candidate for reelection to congress spent $1,403.40. Congressman Frear spent $1,112. William L. Smith, state senator and conservative leader in the upper body of the legislature, who was defeated for re-nomination, spent $382 in his campaign.

Elmer S. Hall, former secretary of state and conservation commissioner until 1927 legislature established the six-man conservation body, spent $183.91 in his race for nomination as a state senator.

State Senator Herman Bolt spent $136.11.

Hydrophobia Preventable Health Head Declares

Chicago—(P)—Hydrophobia is a preventable disease, says Dr. Arnold H. Kegal, Chicago commissioner of health, in an article written for the Gorgas Memorial Institute.

"That hydrophobia is a preventable disease is shown in communities where regulation of the dog population is rigidly enforced," Dr. Kegal writes. "Since most cases of biting are due to dogs and since the disease is kept going by these animals, strict measures to control them are necessary."

"It is decidedly more humane to keep dogs under supervision than to resort to wholesale killing during the terror of an outbreak of madness."

Muzzling dogs, the health director says, is the most effective preventive measure. He listed other available control means as the use of the leash and systematic destruction of homeless and wandering dogs.

"It is important to treat a dog bite intelligently," he continues, "regardless of whether the dog is thought to be rabid."

"First, call a physician. The doctor will cleanse and dress the wound properly so that the possibility of infection including rabies, will be lessened."

"Second, the dog should be captured alive, if possible, and placed under observation. In case the dog is killed, the head should be detached without being mutilated and forwarded to a laboratory where an examination for rabies will be made."

"Third, if the dog is known to be rabid, the Pasteur anti-rabic treatment should be started at once by the physician. If rabies develops in the dog during the observation period, or if the diagnostic examination of the head shows the presence of rabies, the Pasteur treatment should be started at once, upon learning either of these facts. In case rabies cannot be positively ruled out, even though it cannot be definitely established, it may still be available to take this precaution. The treatment itself is harmless."

PRINTING COMMITTEE TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

Bills will be allowed at a meeting of the county board printing committee at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, Monday afternoon. Other routine business matters will be transacted.

Hi-Y Club Meets

The "A" chapter of the Hi-Y club will hold its first meeting at 7:30 next Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A., according to C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary. Plans for the year will be discussed. Members of the "B" chapter will hold their first meeting at 7:30 next Wednesday evening, at the association building.

GENEVA SCHOOLS DRAW
TOURISTS FOR STUDY

Geneva—(P)—Geneva's schools and institutes of foreign relations have been swamped this summer by the largest enrollment of student-tourists on record.

The outstanding development in Europe's tourist business this year is generally conceded to be the increasing number of travelers who came to Geneva for the purpose of studying international economic, political and social questions.

While others point out a falling off in the tourist trade for 1928, the 50 international organizations which maintain headquarters in this city have noted like a magnet on travelers interested in watching the League of Nations wheels go around.

One popular school for girls has been launched by Mrs. Mary Washburn Baldwin of Washington, D. C. who brought 40 young women for a summer vacation week at international affairs.

Airplanes, comfortable motor buses and fast trains have made life more pleasant than usual for Geneva visitors this summer. A larger number of tourists than ever before have applied for admission to the September sessions of the League.

John D. Rockefeller, III, who is in charge of this delicate matter, is finding his powers of diplomacy under a severe strain.

By the treaty of Paris closing the Spanish American War the United States agreed to admit, for a period of ten years, Spanish ships and merchandise to the Philippine Islands on the same terms as American ships and merchandise.

Valley Football Returns

65 AT SHEBOYGAN

Sheboyan returned from sessions at the University of Wisconsin summer school for coaches and a vacation in northern Wisconsin and Michigan, L. D. Stoll, Sheboyan high school football mentor, and former Lawrence college star, lost no time in setting into motion his machine by issuing a list of 65 candidates for the season's first practice on Wednesday.

Practice sessions were started Wednesday at the South Side playground the squad comprising for the most part the men who turned out for spring practice and a goodly number of freshmen seeking gridiron fame during their first year at the local high school.

Seven letter men comprise a nucleus for the team and these veterans and a half-score of prospects Coach Stoll and his assistants must build an eleven which will compare favorably with those produced by the Valley conference.

The letter men are Captain Bernie Fahres, Carl Ackerman, Joe Zajkowski, Ashton Wick, Herb Radtke, Johnson and George Hess. Artie Webb, who won a letter in conference competition last year, has withdrawn from school, and Curly Gant, who has been on the squad for four seasons, will be ineligible. Most likely of the new men are Johnny Meyer, Dave Minniford, Ray Steiner, Eddie Undratis, Eugene Hickey, Tony Galawackas, Jerry Jensen, C. Greenstein, Kummer, Modiz and Koeppler.

Numbered among the missing are Captain Kramer of last year's eleven, Kasperman, West, Felasnick, Zeiler, Bemis, Larson, O. Greenstein, Barrett, Afromovitz, Zierath, Herbold and Frange.

NEW COACH AT MANITOWOC
Manitowoc—Although it was expected that there would be at least 30 candidates cut for the first football practice of the season Tuesday evening at the Lincoln high school field, but little more than a score of candidates for the Red and White team greeted the new football coach, Mark Sutton, when he assembled them for the first real drill of the season. It was explained that no regular sessions of the school had been held on Tuesday and that a much larger turnout was expected later.

Prominent among the old letter men were Captain Gorychka, and his side kick on the basketball team, "Chief" Kupiec, who played a tackle on the Lincoln high school team last year. Among the back field men who were out was Vierig, practically the only regular from last season who is back, and Erick, a track star who was out last season, but who injured his leg early in the season and took part in only a couple of games.

Reinhardt is one of the men from last season who is back. He played in the line last season but owing to the dearth of back field material he may be shifted to a back field berth. Light and it is evident that the Red and White this season is not going to be "beefy" as high school teams go.

40 AT MARINETTE
Marinette—Forty candidates for the Marinette high school football team reported for the first practice of the season held at the Marinette athletic field Tuesday night.

The workout was a light one, consisting mainly with falling on the ball, running down on punts, catching passes, and a little light tackling. "The practices, according to Coach Hurd, will be gradually getting harder until next week when the high gridder will be going at full speed. The team has only about three weeks to get ready for the Oshkosh Normal Freshmen game, September 29th.

Five lettermen form the nucleus of the Marinette team, with which Coach Sutherland has to build his 1928 team around. Captain Frudhomme, an end and Denzin a tackle are the two lettermen the purple mentor has to rear his forward wall about. Mudrak, who played in several games last year, although light, will probably make a strong bid for the quarterback position. Mudrak distinguished himself by his hard tackling last year.

Sorenson, a sub guard on last year's team, is expected to be made into a full back. He was the only freshman on last year's squad.

CITY CHAMPIONSHIP WILL BE DECIDED SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Valley Leaguers Accept Challenge Hurlled by Ambitious Athletics

The last baseball game of the season for both Appleton Valley leaguers and Appleton Athletics will be played Sunday afternoon at Brandt park when the two mix to decide the city championship. The game will be called at 2:30 according to reports. The last time the teams met, Memorial day of this year, the valley leaguers copped the decision 5 and 2.

If one were to look over the league standings of the two teams the Athletics might be said to hold and edge over the "regulars." The Regs finished next to the bottom in the big conference and the Athletics next to the top in the little loop.

Of course, it's claimed they play faster ball in the big league.

The game Sunday is the result of a challenge hurled by the ambitious Athletics a few days ago and accepted Thursday by the regulars. Announcement of lineup for the franchise will be made Saturday by the team managers.

STIRBLING FINALLY WINS IN NEW YORK

Beats South African in Second Round of Elimination Bout

New York—(P)—W. L. (Young) Stribling, of Georgia, has taken the first step on the long trail that leads to the now vacant heavyweight throne and overcome a jinx to do it.

It wasn't a very big step but it was something. The Southerner made his New York debut as a heavyweight at Madison Square Garden Thursday night by battering Johnny Squires of South Africa, into technical knockout defeat in less than two rounds of fighting.

The significance is not that Stribling won but that he won in New York. In his days as a light heavyweight, Stribling had a special genius for appearing at his worst in Metropolitan rings.

He lost both of the major bouts he has had here previously, bowing to Paul Berlenbach and Tommy Loughran. New York fans were not particularly keen about the Southerner's style of fighting and were not at all slow in making him aware of that fact.

Last night he gave his critics no time to get into action. With a few sharp punches Stribling had Squires groggy in the first round, only the bell saving the South African from the ignominy of a one-round knockout.

In the second round, Stribling sailed into his virtually helpless opponent and cut him down for good after only 44 seconds of fighting in that stanza.

Stribling's stock in the heavyweight market took no sharp rise as a result of his victory for Squires is a virtual unknown.

FRANKLY, THIS IS PRETTY GOOD NEWS

Carroll Pioneers Appear to Be Coming Down to College Class

Waukesha—Carroll college, the school that for three successive years has picked 11 men from its enrollment of 400 students and under the direction of Coach Norris Armstrong won the state college football crown, must look to its freshmen material when the squads answer the first call next Wednesday for line material that will take the place of the nine retiring veterans who have made the Pioneers the annual threat of opponent eleven.

Six of the nine retiring players were pillars in Carroll's famous line. Capt. Ham Catterton, Kenosha, Les Uecke, Marinette, one of the strongest centers for three years in the Wisconsin-Illinois conference; Fred Boettcher, Watertown, and Jerzewski, Manitowoc, rugged guardsmen; Leo Egan, Manitowoc, pass-snatcher; and George Hoffman, Watertown, as good a tackle as expert ever saw in action on state college gridirons, are the men whom Armstrong has lost.

Ambrose, Portage; Rasmussen, Green Bay; Hinz, Marshfield; are but the semblance of a line to compare the big loss. Last year's freshmen are the mentor's only hope. Donald West, Ironwood, Mich.; Elmer Notthum, Abotsford; Walter Ruesch, Medford; John Kafka, Antigo; are looked upon as splendid material.

In the backfield the following men will be built around Capt. Herbert Flitz, fullback; Pellenz, Marshfield; Hanson, Green Bay; Hay, Waukesha; Podolski, Watertown; Snyder, Waukesha.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GETS KICKING COACH

Los Angeles—(P)—The University of Southern California has imported a rugby expert from Australia to teach its footballers how to kick the pigskin.

Announcement was made Thursday by officials of the institution that Coach Howard Jones will be aided in an advisory capacity by Edward G. Greaves, noted Australian star, who will center his efforts on the development of punters and dropkickers.

For lack of an outstanding kicker, Southern California has lost numerous games by a lone point and it was to remedy this weakness that Greaves was obtained.

U. W. Leader

Madison—The football captaincy at Wisconsin this fall rests upon the broad shoulders of a young man who has overcome countless obstacles in an effort to acquire a college education. Success has rewarded this lad in all of his undertakings as a Badger student, until now, as a senior, Rube E. Wagner of St. Paul, Minn., will find himself a leader in the student line of Wisconsin.

For two years Wagner has played in the line on Cardinal eleven. Last fall he was rated as one of the best tackles in the middle west. Rube has confined his activities entirely to athletics. In the spring of the year he competes on the track team, specializing in the shot put and discus throw.

JUNIOR WORLD SERIES STARTS IN CHICAGO

Teams from California and Massachusetts Fight for Title

Chicago—(P)—The opening game of the series to determine the junior world championship of the world, as sponsored by the American Legion and major leagues, was up for setting at the White Sox park Friday.

Victorious in eliminations involving 8,000 teams, the Wards of Oakland, Calif., and a scrappy, hard hitting nine from Worcester, Mass., are equally confident of winning the necessary two games out of three.

Each team has a batting average of well over .300 and a staff of pitchers which has turned in great records during the tournament, which attracted 12,000 fans.

To give the championship series impartiality and "big league" atmosphere, umpires from the National and American leagues have been assigned to officiate. Baseball Commissioner Landis and Presidents Heydler and Barnard of the major circuits also will attend as will several major league scouts.

The winning team will be given a trip to the coming world series and a trophy emblematic of their title.

Tar Heels Lose Whisnant
Al Whisnant, sensational quarterback at North Carolina last year, has decided to enter Maryland's medical school this year and will be lost to the Tar Heel football team.

Whaddaya Think of This?
Jimmy Hammock, captain-elect of the Mercer football team, has announced that he won't have time for football this fall because of his law studies.

Chicago—Rene De Vos, Belgium, defeated Cowboy Jack Willis, San Antonio, (10). Marty Gallagher, Washington, D. C., beat Tom Sayers, Detroit, (5). 'Ollie Bartlett, Minneapolis, technically knocked out Roy Peters, Chicago, (2).

Around The Sport World

SURE, IT'S A MIRACLE
Bobby Jones is playing good golf these days because he's at the right age for good golf, said Chick Evans during the recent Walker Cup matches.

"Bobby is at the age, between 26 and 27, when a man is at the peak of his game," said Evans. "You know I won the amateur and open championships in 1916 when I was 26 and I think it was a case of my being at the right age and the peak of my game."

Perhaps there is something to this theory of Evans', but how are you going to account for all the good golf Bobby was playing long before he ever got as old as he is?

The explanation of a young Scotch pro at an Ohio club who sees Bobby play every chance he gets is a good one. This pro says it is just a miracle and that's all the explanation he can give.

AND HE BEATS THEM
Rogers Hornsby knows he hasn't much of a ball club this year but he thinks he will have a better one next season and he is anxious to do a bit of experimenting with the youngsters his boss owns but he can't do it because of the close pennant race in the National League.

Hornsby was recently signed as boss of the Braves for six years and also told he could have big jack to go after youngsters.

And he has a bunch of youngsters around whom he would like to see in action before next spring. But he must play the strongest line-up possible against each club or else it might be said that he's trying to help some club win the pennant.

The fact that five clubs are in the race for the pennant makes it hard on Hornsby. He admits he is hurting his own club by not experimenting with his rookies, but then he is willing to do it to hurt his season.

BUCS AGAIN LOSE TO CARDINALS AS SOX TRIM TRIBE

St. Louis Victory Increases Lead Over Giants to 4 1/2 Games

To their own impotence against Bill McKechnie's St. Louis Cardinals, as much as to any other one factor, can the Pittsburgh Pirates blame their fifth place standing in the National league where they were ranked 1-2 by virtually every baseball expert in the country before the 1928 campaign opened.

Donie Bush, 1927 champions engaged the league-leaders in mortal combat Thursday and had only a defeat to show for their efforts, only the Boston Braves and the Phillies have done worse against the Cards.

Burleigh Grimes, who ran up a string of 22 victories without a whole lot of trouble, is finding no 22 his job. He tried for it again Thursday and apparently had it when George Harper, a pinch hitter, socked the ball into the right field stands in the last half of the tenth, and scored behind Jimmy Wilson with the run that gave the Cards the game, 4 to 3.

A few minutes before, Paul Warner's homer with brother Lloyd on the line, had tied up the game. Grimes, however, had won it in the first half of the tenth when he singled, scoring Scott with the third Pirate run. That tally incidentally was the only one not scored directly by home runs. The league leader's first two runs were personally accounted for by Chick Hafey when he drove the ball into the stands with Bottomley on base in the fifth.

Grimes allowed only six hits against Clarence Mitchell's seven, but in home runs the Cards led two to one and that was the margin of ultimate triumph.

With all other National league teams idle, St. Louis increased its lead over the second place New York Giants to four and a half games.

In the only American league contest, Alphonse Thomas pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 2 to 1 victory over Cleveland. All the scoring was done in the first inning. After that Thomas and Johnny Miljus were invincible. The Sox, by virtue of their triumph, moved back into a fourth place tie with the Washington Senators.

DIVIDE PRIZE FOR WRIGLEY MARATHON

Last 14 to Drop Out Awarded $2,500 by Canadian Committee

Toronto, Ont.—(P)—Lacking a legitimate winner, the $25,000 prize, offered in the Wrighley marathon swim, has been split up into portions of $2,500 each and awarded to 14 of the 189 entrants in Wednesday's grind.

Puzzled over what to do with the money when not one of the competitors was able to finish the 15-mile race, the aquatic committee of the Canadian National Exhibition decided to grant equal awards to the 14 men they decided had distinguished themselves in the swim.

Thus Georges Michel of France, last of the field to succumb to the icy waters of Lake Ontario, gets no more, financially, than does Harold L. Preston of Smithville, Ont., last of the fourteen prize winners, who swam only five miles against more than 12 for the Frenchman.

ORGANIZE CATHOLIC FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Five Schools in Valley Announce Intention of Joining New Organization

A Catholic junior high school football league has been organized in the Fox river valley, according to announcement made Friday by Mel Heinrich, coach at St. Joseph junior high school, Appleton. A meeting to draw up a schedule and rules under which play will be conducted will be held sometime next week, it was said.

Five cities in the valley have announced intention of entering teams in the league while a sixth is doubtful and will report definitely at the next meeting. It is expected the teams will average about 140 pounds.

Schools which have entered the league are Cathedral Junior high school at Green Bay, St. Mary school at Little Chute, St. Mary school at Menasha, St. Peter school at Oshkosh and St. Joseph Junior high school, Appleton. Junior Holy Name society at Kimberly is the group still undecided.

St. Joseph grid aspirants have been out for practice every night since school opened and have been completely outfitted with uniforms and equipment purchased by the athletic committee of the school. There are 28 men on the squad.

BREWERS' WINNING STREAK IS BROKEN

Saints Overcome Four-run Lead and Win 6-9; Millers Cop Again

Chicago—(P)—Like the tortoise in fiction, Minneapolis is gradually pulling away from its rivals in the American association pennant marathon.

The Millers, who have reached the top by consistent instead of sensational baseball, gained some more grounds Thursday when they made it two straight over the faltering Kansas City Blues, while Milwaukee was stopped by St. Paul and Indianapolis took a day off.

It was heavy hitting and another great pitching performance by Ad Liska that enabled the Millers to sink Kansas City, 8 to 1, at Nicolet park Thursday. Liska scattered 9 hits he granted while his mates got 13 safeties.

A four run rally in the eighth inning by the Saints spoiled the day and the extension of a nine-game winning streak for Milwaukee. Jack Lelivelt's men piled up a four run lead in the first three innings, but were unable to do anything thereafter and the Saints copped 6 to 4.

New York—Young Stribling, Atlanta, technically knocked out Johnny Squires, South Africa, (2). Jake Warren, Chicago, won over Paul E. Iderski, Syracuse, by disqualification, (4). Big John Erickson, Minneapolis, defeated Charley—Hepper, Ridgefield, N. J., (4).

UNIVERSITY WILL OPEN NEW UNION BUILDING OCT. 5

Badger Structure, Dedicated to War Heroes, Will House
10,000

Madison—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin's new Memorial Union building, erected as a monument to heroes who died in the service of their country, a colorful representation of traditions accredited to the Badger and a luxurious club house for nearly 10,000 students who are expected to attend the state school, will be opened formally on the weekend of the Notre Dame game, Oct. 5 and 6.

The new Union, judged the most beautiful structure on the university campus, represents the planning and the work of about ten years. The idea at the university took definite form shortly after the war.

The edifice is equipped with almost everything necessary to make social, home and business life a success, in the opinion of faculty members architects and those who have already made tours of inspection.

On the second floor is located the "great hall", a combined ladies' lounge and ball room. This particular place was pointed out by President Frank as "the University's living room".

The ground floor will be exclusively for men. To carry out the traditional effect, there is a card room decked out to give the appearance of an old lumbering shack, this idea being that cards were first introduced to this state by the early lumbering men.

The billiard room contains an ancient pool table taken from the governor's mansion. This was done on suggestion of Gov. Zimmerman, who discovered the old table in the basement of his home. He does not play pool.

The Milwaukee-German historic element is predominant in the restaurant, a drinking, eating and lounging room, similar to that used by merry German burghers.

Wisconsin's early Indian traditions, and in particular that of campfire friendliness and good-will, are embodied in the "council room". The entrance hall is executed in veined silver Italian marble, imported from Sienna Italy. Painted designs on the rounded ceiling of this entrance are of the Florentine type, but will carry Indian tradition in that the figure of an Indian will be used instead of the ancient Greek.

The library with dark walls of fumed oak gives an impression of quiet, solemn dignity.

On the third floor of the main unit are offices for all student activities such as the Daily Cardinal, the Badger, Homecoming, Prom, the Octopus, and Dad's Day.

The Commons suit is devoted mainly to housing dining and cooking facilities and to guest rooms for union members.

Furniture in guest rooms will be of simple, early American style. The walls of the "compass" room will bear scenes of early Madison.

Few Government Officials At Capital During Summer

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington—Postmaster General Harry S. New and the cabinet cabinet Secretary West of Interior, Dr. Work's successor, virtually constituted the government in Washington.

The most spectacular of these will be a view of the capital city across Lake Mendota.

The tea rooms and medium-sized dining rooms named in recognition of the Tripp estate will be designed to appeal especially to "dating" couples.

ton after Secretary Kellogg set sail for Paris in mid-August.

There were no other cabinet members, not a corporals' guard of senators or representatives and no members of the supreme court at all in town to maintain the great trumprate of government, legislative, executive and judicial.

General New stuck out the whole summer in Washington. He takes his vacation gunning up in Northern Michigan every fall, putting in two cracks at it, several weeks apart, to get into the seasons of the sor, of game he likes to shoot.

There has seemed to be considerable doubt as to what New will do after election in the event that Hoover wins out.

Some postoffice observers think it quite likely that Dr. Work might like to return to that portfolio under Hoover, assuming that a Hoover victory would mean the Colorado man could have about what he wanted as a distinguished service reward for his labors as campaign manager. He was practically moved out of the postoffice into interior to make way for New when the latter lost out in the India. A sensational race and was given lame-duck refuge in Washington by his party chief.

Other successful election campaign managers like Will Hays and before that, Frank Hitchcock, found the postmaster generalship a desirable berth from which to exercise their political talents. It gets mightily close to the voters all over the land and is the center link of the federal machine every Administration controls.

The Indiana senatorial campaign left New footloose and he had no great personal resources to fall back on, his long political service not having been conducive to building up bank accounts. Gossip has it, however, among New's intimate friends, that he has had more luck in the last few years with investments and can look with tranquility toward retirement from Washington public life, if that is on the cards for him.

Incidentally, New has shared with Kellogg the credit of having accomplished things within their respective cabinet fields of activity this year that may have good effect for the party when the nation goes to the polls in November. Kellogg put over the peace treaty, New cut the air mail postage rate in half and has widely extended the use of air mail generally, transferring much of the work the private enterprise after successful government pioneering. His motto has been and still is, "anything for the air mail." Dollars and cents, restrictions that bind other aspects of the business of carrying the mails do not apply so rigidly to the air mail.

By way of illustration, the new air mail stamps are pointed out. They are what is known as a "two color job," making a double run necessary. They cost the government about a dollar a thousand to produce as compared to a few cents a thousand for other stamps. But they are distinctive and add a little psychological touch, designed to pull additional folks into use of the air mail routes.

Can Jones Explain It to Himself?

MR. Average P. Jones could quickly tell you why he's an ardent user of 370 gas in winter.

Quick starting! Yes, sir. There's his easy answer.

But when summer rolls around and you observe that same Mr. Jones stopping for his gas wherever Whosit or No-Name has stuck up a pump — better not embarrass him by asking for a logical reason for his change of front.

Pinned down to it, he couldn't make an answer that would reasonably convince even himself!

He can't conscientiously believe that a gas so clogged with heavy, keroseneish non-vaporizing adulterants that it is unstartable in winter, can throw out those motor-damaging ingredients or prevent them from doing harm merely because summer heat can finally coax such gas to fire.

Nor can he plead "economy" when all the facts stand against him — such facts as the complete combustion, snappier action and increased mileage of high grade gas—such facts as the greater relief from carbon and compression troubles and the long-time protection from costly repairs due to oil dilution.

Wadhams 370 - the Year-Round Gasoline is the gas for every season for the self-same reason that it is the undisputed essential for winter use.

Its quick-starting then is conclusive evidence of qualities that are always present — the qualities of full vaporization and complete explosiveness and absolute immunity from the harmful drizzle of non-burning kerosene. And it stands to reason that such protective features must reach their highest value in summer when the motor is in heaviest use.

Let Jones answer himself. For your part, hold winter's recollection as your summer proof that 370 MUST be better, thriftier, safer the whole calendar 'round.

RURAL SCHOOL MUSIC PROGRAM IS READY TO GET UNDER WAY

Meeting Names Schools That Will Be Taught by Each Supervisor

After several days intensive work county school officials have completed laying out the two rural school music districts of the county and naming the schools that will be located in each. The program for the music supervisors for each week also has been completed.

Miss Lorene Fredrickson will have charge of district No. 1 and Miss Caryl Short will supervise the work in district No. 2. Both girls are graduates of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music public school music department. They are making preliminary surveys of their districts this week and preparing the ground work for their years' teaching under the supervision of Dr. Earl Baker, director of the course from which they graduated.

Under the plan the teachers will spend one hour each week at each school. This time will be spent in observing the work accomplished by the students during the week and mapping the work for the week ahead.

Following is the program for district No. 1:

Monday—9 o'clock, Hortonville, grades; 11 o'clock, district 4, Liberty, Sleepy Hollow school; 1 o'clock, Liberty, Maple Leaf school; 2 o'clock, Hortonville, Oak Park school; 2 o'clock, Hortonville, Lincoln school.

Tuesday—9 o'clock, Black Creek, grades; 11:30, Cicero, Sunny Valley school; 1:30, Bovina, Countryside school; 2:30, Center, Sunny Hill school.

Wednesday—8:30, Combined Locks, grades; 11:30, Buchanan, Military Junction school; 1:15, Kimberly, grades.

Thursday—9 o'clock, Ellington, Pleasant Vale school; 10 o'clock, Ellington, Rexford school; 1 o'clock, Elmina, Elmwood school; 2 o'clock, Maine, Oakland school; 3 o'clock, Maine, Leeman school.

Friday—9 o'clock, Osborn, Pioneer school; 10 o'clock, Osborn, North Osborn school; 11 o'clock, Oneida, Pine Grove school.

Following is the program for district No. 2:

Monday—9 o'clock, Dale; 10:30, Greenville, Cedar Grove school; 11:30, Greenville, Island school; 1:30, Greenville, Pleasant Corners school; 2:30, Greenville, Sunny View school; 3:30, Greenville, Elm Tree school.

Tuesday—10 o'clock, Deer Creek, Elder Row school; 11 o'clock, Bear Creek, grades.

Wednesday—9 o'clock, Grand Chute, Twin Willows school; 10 o'clock, Grand Chute, Badger school; 11 o'clock, Calumet, Star school.

Thursday—9 o'clock, Cicero, River-view school; 10 o'clock, Cicero, Nichols school; 11 o'clock, Cicero, Spring Brook school; 1:30, Seymour, North Seymour school; 2:30, Seymour, Cherry Hill school; 3:30, Seymour, Crystal Spring school.

Friday—9 o'clock, Freedom, Maple Grove school; 10 o'clock, Kaukauna, Ashwaubena school; 11 o'clock, Freedom, Sunny Corners school.

On Friday afternoon the supervisors will hold conferences with the teachers, correcting troubles, discussing problems and suggesting remedies.

There is still room for several more schools, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, providing the reports reach his office before next Monday and the schools are favorably located to be listed in the two districts.

THE 1929 ELECTRIC SET

Up-to-date radio that you can trust on its record

CHOOSING an automobile—or a watch—you buy on reputation. "Who makes it? What experience is behind it? What do the owners say?" Naturally, you ask these questions—and on the answers you base your purchase.

It's the same with radio. When radio was new, Atwater Kent had already had many years' manufacturing experience. People knew the Atwater Kent reputation for thoroughness and simplicity and fineness. So they bought Atwater Kent Radio—and found it good.

Because it is good, the number of purchasers grows larger and larger, until now it is approaching nearly 2,000,000. This popularity enables us to develop still better radio and more economical ways of making it.

And now you find the results of all this experience in the 1929 all-electric set. It is simpler, more powerful, brings in stations over a wider range, has a tone so clear that when you listen you don't think of the set at all—only of the singer and his song.

It's compact—radio of full stature in comfortably small space. And (here's where experience and ample manufacturing facilities count again) it costs little.

On its reputation—on what a host of delighted owners say—you can trust this 1929 all-electric Atwater Kent. Clinch your impression with a home demonstration. Telephone the nearest Atwater Kent dealer. Or drop in and see him.

COURTHOUSE TO HAVE LARGER PARKING LOT

Waltman Gets Contract to Remove Island and Lay Concrete

The contract for removing the "island" on the parking lot between the county courthouse and the county jail at the courthouse grounds and laying concrete was let by the county board building and grounds committee to Louis Waltman, Appleton contractor, at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The work is to cost approximately $600 and will be started at once.

When completed the removal of the island will practically double the capacity of the parking lot there and will make considerable more room for parking cars of those who have business at the courthouse. At present it is difficult for county officers to find room for their cars because many transients park their machines in the spaces that should be reserved for the officials.

When the parking lot is full now it is practically impossible for a car parked at the south end to get back on the street because the driveways are crowded with cars for which there is no room on the parking lot. The committee also allowed bids totaling $3,100.

ADVISE LIQUID DIET FOR FEVER PATIENTS

Madison—(AP)—Another tradition is annihilated, at least in part, by science.

The adage, "Feed a cold and starve a fever," must not be taken too literally, according to the student health service of the University of Wisconsin.

"It is the kind and type of food rather than the amount which physicians restrict in infections which include colds, and to which fever is simply a reaction," the health service points out.

"Fever is always due to infection, except in conditions where the heat regulating center of the brain is disturbed. Fever causes a more rapid destruction to the body tissues, which must be replaced by the intake of nourishment in sufficient amounts, but in as easily digested form as possible.

A diet consisting of liquids high in caloric value is recommended for fever patients.

China has four times as many people as the United States.

CIVIC COUNCIL TO HEAR REPORT ON PLAYGROUND

A detailed report of playground activities this summer will be read to members of the Civic Council at their meeting at 7:30 Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The Civic Council is the organization which started the playground movement and was entrusted with the project this year by the city council which appropriated $3,000 to carry on the work.

Members of the Civic committee in direct charge of the playgrounds will meet with Mayor A. C. Rule and several aldermen for a short session previous to the Civic council meeting.

Oil is obtained from coal in a plant now in operation in Germany.

NO APPLETON WOMEN AT TEMPERANCE MEETING

The state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union opened at Eau Claire Thursday afternoon. No Appleton women attended.

The annual banquet will be held Thursday evening, with the mayor welcoming the delegates. The evening speakers will be Mrs. Laura Sage Jones, Delevan, who will speak on Party or Principle—Which?, Bailey Ramsdell, Eau Claire; A. J. Sutherland, federal prohibition commissioner; and Paul H. Raile, Chippewa Falls, who will speak on Translating Resolutions into Votes.

TENNESSEE TO BE BATTLEGROUND IN COMING ELECTION

State Where Solid South First Broke Claimed by Both Parties

BY W. T. COTTINGHAM
Memphis, Tenn. — (AP) — National politics, dormant most of the summer in the uncertain Volunteer state, has come sharply to the fore since the August primaries.

Until they had sweltered through the primary campaigns, Tennesseans allowed nothing to interfere with their own state affairs, but once their nominees were selected they were off on another campaign. The democrats got a vigorous workout in their primary campaign, during which supporters of two of the gubernatorial candidates engaged in heated exchanges, and the primary itself was marked by several Memphis newspaper reporters' being roughly handled by policemen who smashed their cameras. The reporters had been assigned to take pictures of negroes voting in the democratic primary and the papers had charged the "machine" was "herding" negroes to the polls.

Outside of east Tennessee, which is strongly republican, little attention was given the republican primary, but there has been plenty of activity since.

The activity has been varied. It has included the stalling of the republican gubernatorial candidate, W. S. Hopkins of Columbia, by a fellow party member and the raising of the cry of "carpet bag rule" in party councils. This cry, however, was quickly stifled. There also has been an optimistic statement from Marion Richardson, campaign manager for Tennessee, who said "we are very much in earnest about carrying Tennessee for Hoover and Curtis and electing our state ticket." He promised a vigorous campaign.

There has been no evidence of idleness among the democrats, who are actually certain of victory for their state nominees, including Gov. Henry H. Horton and Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar, have their campaign underway for Smith and Robinson.

The "contact committee," appointed by democratic regional headquarters at St. Louis, is headed by Rep. Joseph W. Byrns of Nashville, who is unopposed for re-election to congress from the sixth district, and includes both Senator McKellar and his opponent in the primary, Rep. Finis J. Garrett, minority leader in the house. Rogers Caldwell, Nashville capitalist, took over the direction of finances for the democratic national and state campaign.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union has had some things to say about "wet" candidates in connection with the national campaign. Southern presidents of the W. C. T. U., meeting at Chattanooga, adopted a report that expressed the belief that "with Alfred E. Smith as president there would be an immediate mobilization for repeal of prohibition." Officers of the state W. C. T. U. later issued a statement opposing Smith.

While the democrats have found opposition to the national ticket on the part of some prohibition factions, all has not been serene in the republican ranks. During a meeting of the republican executive committee at the capitol in Nashville to canvass the primary votes the gubernatorial candidate, Hopkins, was stabbed in the arm with a pocket knife by John W. Jackson, a fellow townsman. The stabbing climaxed a heated argument over a contest brought in Hopkins' home district. Hopkins was only slightly hurt, but the committee postponed business after the incident.

The same day of the Hopkins-Jackson scrap, the democratic state executive committee met and unanimously adopted a resolution urging whole-hearted support of the democratic ticket from "president to constable" in the November election.

Normally the democrats have a majority ranging from 25,000 to 35,000 in Tennessee, but there have been occasions when Tennessee elected republican governors and in 1920 the state went for Harding, the first break in the solid south. Democratic leaders have expressed no concern over Horton's chances of victory, nor over the chances of Senators McKellar to succeed himself. Mayor James A. Fowler of Knoxville received the republican senatorial nomination without a contest.

All of Tennessee's congressmen were renominated except Garrett, who after 12 terms in the house dropped out of the race for representative to oppose McKellar for the senatorial nomination. Jere Cooper received the democratic nomination from Garrett's district, the ninth.

VALLEY OFFICERS WILL START MEETINGS SOON

The Fox River Valley chapter of the Officers Reserve Corps will probably hold its first meeting of the fall season, Tuesday, Sept. 18, according to Lieut. Heim C. Huser, president. Cards notifying members of the meeting will be sent out soon. The meeting place has not yet been decided on.

FARMERS BEGIN SILO FILLING THIS WEEK

Farmers in the vicinity of Appleton started cutting corn this week and filling silos. Some trouble is being experienced by the workers because the corn was twisted and laid low by a recent wind storm. In places the stalks were matted together and the cutting proceeded very slowly. In many places, however, due to dry weather which followed the wind storm, the corn had recovered somewhat and the work proceeded smoothly.

APPLETON FIRM BIDS ON WAUPACA-CO JOB

The Garvey-Weyenberg Construction company will submit a bid on the two and one half mile paving job between Waupaca and Weyauwega on highway 10. Bids will close at the Waupaca court house at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 5. The road is to be 20 feet wide and will be built across a small lake near Waupaca to avoid paving an additional four miles of road. The shallow lake will be filled in, according to construction men.

ZIMMERMAN STILL FRIEND OF "SOL"

State Treasurer One of First to Offer "Condolences" to Governor

Madison — (AP) — While Governor Zimmerman and state Treasurer Solomon Levitan do not follow the same line of political thought, they have been on friendly terms during their administrations of the last two years, and "Sol," was one of the first on Thursday, following Tuesday's election to extend "condolences" as he expressed it, to the chief executive following his defeat.

The grey-haired treasurer, suffering somewhat of defeat himself, because he failed to lead his party by several thousand votes, this customary lead having been taken over by Theodore Lamman, secretary of state, in the primaries, waited for sometime in the outer office of the governor's suite. Governor Zimmerman finishing a campaign that kept him out of the office for a considerable portion of three weeks, or more, was busy in conferences and with executive duties when the treasurer called in this morning.

Sol, however, waited patiently, when he was told that the governor could not see him just at the moment. Their conversation when Mr. Levitan was admitted to the council chamber is not recorded, but judging from Sol's lively mood outside and the apparently good humor of the executive despite his defeat, their relations will continue friendly. Mr. Levitan once reported that Governor Zimmerman had often extended him courtesies of the governor's suite and of his time. He said that the governor, when he made one call, told him that he was to "come right in," each time he called, and the veteran state officer appreciated this invitation "because," he said, "another governor kept me waiting for a long time almost every time I came to his office."

Stock Mart Price Trends Slay Election Year Bogie

New York — (AP) — Price movements in the stock market this year, based on The Associated Press average of 20 leading Industrials and 20 leading rails, have destroyed the legend that presidential years are bad for markets and business. The current "bull" market is the longest in Wall Street's history.

Most observers fix the spring of 1924 as the beginning of the broad upward movement which has continued since that time with only two major interruptions, each of short duration. Some analysts even date the beginning as far back as 1922, which marks the end of the post-war depression, although during the next two years most of the leading stocks seemed to fluctuate within a relatively narrow trading area.

The first serious break in prices came in March, 1926, following the collapse of several speculative pools. It was preceded by an increase in Federal Reserve rediscount rates and by the interstate commerce commission's rejection of the original "Nikel Plate" merger plan, which formed the basis of aggressive speculation in the rail shares. The ground lost in March was recovered during the summer months and that autumn prices advanced higher than ever.

Easy money, combined with relatively fair business, formed the basis for the next up-swing in prices. It continued, with only minor interruptions, until June of this year when another violent set back took place in response to the Federal Reserve board's decision to restrict the volume of speculation credit because of the loss of more than half a billion dollars in gold since the first of last September. Prices recovered slowly in the late spring and early summer, but started upward again in August on improved crop prospects and a steady expansion in business, which reached unusually large proportion in some of the basic industries.

SHERIFF SELLS LAND TO SATISFY MORTGAGE

Otto Wickert, Appleton, plaintiff in a foreclosure action against Herman A. Rolf, town of Hortonia farmer, purchased the 50 acre farm at sheriff's sale Saturday morning. He paid $6,886.72 for the property.

CARY GIVES REPORT ON KIWANIS CONVENTION

Paul V. Cary, Jr., one of the local Kiwanis club's delegates to the annual district convention at Superior, Aug. 13 and 14, was the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of Appleton club at Conway hotel, Wednesday noon. Mr. Cary gave a general report on convention activities.

PILSUDSKI SEEKS REST FROM WORK IN COUNTRY

Sulejowek, Poland — (AP) — The letters of Napoleon are the only printed matter which comes to the hand of Marshall Pilsudski, who is resting here at his little cottage from the effects of overwork. Since the doctors ordered a complete rest, no official business or private business penetrates through the outer portals of the little white house where the Marshall is carrying on an existence according to routine.

He arises at nine in the morning and has his breakfast, consisting of two rolls with butter and tea, in bed. He shaves himself with an American razor and then walks in his garden, accompanied by his two wolf hounds.

The pastimes of his daughters Wanda and Jadwiga, 11 and 9 years old, give him the most pleasure. Venus is almost exactly the same size as the earth.

"Old Man Sunshine"

He's in a strange town and lonesome. Hoping that Old Man Sunshine will peep out from behind the clouds, and that Little Boy Blue Bird will come hopping around the corner. . . . If you ever feel blue, here is the song to chase the blues away. George Olsen's good music adds to the merriment. Let us play it for you—soon!

Book Of Knowledge

Our Presidents

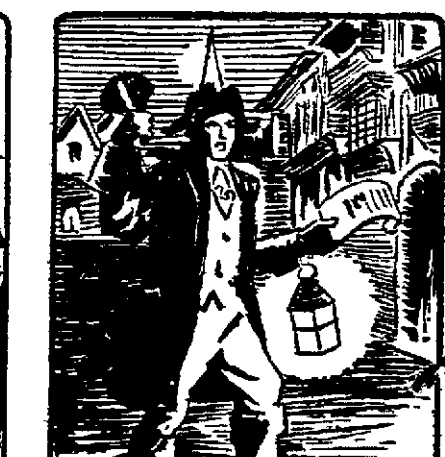

After foreigners had tried to stir American citizens to help France in her war on England, Congress passed the Alien and Sedition Acts, providing punishment for foreigners who spoke or wrote against the government. Imprisonment and exile were imposed. The laws were short-lived but made President Adams very unpopular. The cry went up that "a few rich men were running the country."

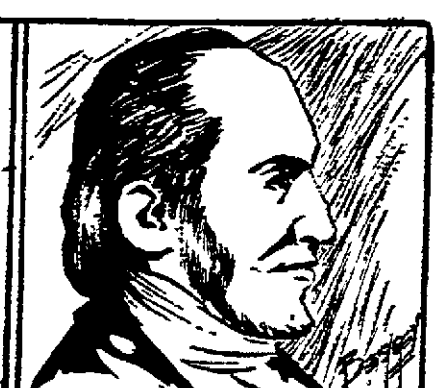

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26

Virginia and Kentucky legislatures passed resolutions saying that the government had gone beyond its powers.

Adams was a candidate for re-election in 1801 against Thomas Jefferson, founder of what is now the Democratic party.

But the troubles of the Adams administration worked against his resuming office for a second term. The Federalist doctrine of government by the aristocratic few began to pall on the people, who wanted every class to have a voice in the nation's affairs. Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr received the same number of votes, but the House of Representatives chose Jefferson. (To Be Continued)

SCHOOL THREATENED AS TAR BARRELS EXPLODE

Kaukauna—The local fire department was called out about 7:20 Friday morning when two tar barrels blew up near the Outagamie training school where workmen were tarring the roof. One of the barrels was thrown about 15 feet by the explosion, and smoke poured out of the barrels near the building so as to make the whole side of the school appear in flames. Some of the tar of one barrel was thrown on a window which started to burn, but the whole fire was put out in about 10 minutes by the department. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

INSTALL HEAT PLANT IN NICOLET FACTORY

Kaukauna—Installation of the new heating plant in the Nicolet plant was finished Thursday by the American Foundry company of Milwaukee. The work cost $5,800 and required about two months.

SCHEDULE POSTPONED BAND CONCERT FRIDAY

Kaukauna—A free band concert will be given by the Moose band at LaFollette park from 8 to 9:30 Friday evening. The concert was postponed from Wednesday on account of an important meeting of the band and the Moose lodge.

TEN BIRTHS RECORDED IN CITY LAST MONTH

Kaukauna—There were ten births in Kaukauna in August as compared with eight in July, according to the monthly report of the city physician, Dr. W. N. Nolan. Two marriages took place, the same number as in July. There were eight deaths. The city's health condition is excellent as there are no serious diseases in existence. The few quarantines that are out will be removed within the next few days.

HOMANS TRIM MULFORDS IN SOFTBALL BATTLE

Kaukauna—Mulfords softball team took its second defeat of the second round of the Twilight league softball series, when Homans forced a 2 to 1 win over them in an eight inning game Thursday evening at the Softball park. The games are usually seven innings, but an extra inning had to be played as the score was tied at the end of the seventh. Peters pitched for the Homans and Haas pitched for the Mulfords. The evening Postoffice will play the Homans. Only two more weeks of play are left.

LEGION GRID PLAYERS WILL REPORT TONIGHT

Kaukauna—Those wishing to try out for the Legion grid football are requested to meet at Legion hall at 8:30 Friday evening. The first practice will be held at the ball park and equipment will be given out. New equipment has been purchased as that used in former years was turned over to the high school.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derus. His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derus.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The Lady Knights of Columbus held a meeting in Knights of Columbus hall Thursday afternoon. After a business meeting, cards were played, and prizes were won in bridge by Mrs. T. Ryan, Mrs. A. Godfrey, in schafkopf by Mrs. H. Courtney and Mrs. F. Banning, and in five hundred by Mrs. H. Wilpolt, and in two hundred by Mrs. F. Banning and Mrs. O. Aufrieter. Hostesses were Mesdames Mary Maurer, P. Miller, Aloys Thiel, George Whitman, George Schaefer, Henry Schaefer and Miss Hildegard Whitman.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Aug. 20, when election of officers will take place.

The regular weekly meeting of the Odd Fellows took place in Odd Fellows' hall at 7:30 Thursday evening. Routine business was transacted.

Members of the Ladies Aid society of Immanuel Reformed church met at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. Business for September was discussed.

HIGH SCHOOL HAS BIG ATTENDANCE

Record Enrollment Is Reported Thursday by Principal Olin Dryer

Kaukauna—There are 361 students enrolled in Kaukauna high school, 15 more than last year, according to a report made by Principal Olin G. Dryer Thursday. A total of 112 freshmen are enrolled compared to 117 last year. The senior class has 69 students, one less than last year.

Of the total enrollment, 173 are boys and 188 are girls. Last year the boys numbered 157 while the girls numbered 139. The enrollment of sophomores climbed from 92 last year to 97 this year, and the Junior class increased from 72 to 78. The enrollment of the entire high school is the largest in the history of the institution.

TWO CARS DAMAGED IN COLLISION AT CORNER

Kaukauna—A minor accident occurred at the corner of Taylor and Desnoyer-sts about 9:30 Thursday evening when a car driven by Naomi Tate, crossing Taylor north on Desnoyer-st, and a car driven by Lenard Romanesko, Freedom, who was going south on Taylor-st, collided. A fender and door on the left side of Tate's car was damaged, and the axle on the Romanesko car was bent.

SHIP 200 PIGEONS FOR FINAL RACE ON SUNDAY

Kaukauna—About 250 birds were sent to Winona, Minn., for the last pigeon race to be staged this year for young birds by the Kaukauna Pigeon club. The flight distance is 200 miles. The Sunday race will determine the winner of the loving cup donated by Kaukauna merchants. Frank Heimke leads at present, his birds having won two flight races.

CHURCH WILL OFFER LOCAL TALENT PLAY TUESDAY EVENING

Proceeds Will Be Used to Help Defray Expenses of New School

Kaukauna—Just For Fun, a three act play by Eleanor Crane, will be presented at 8 o'clock next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by the Lady Foresters of St. Mary church, under direction of Miss M. McHugh. Proceeds will go toward defraying the cost of the new school now under construction.

The cast is: Mrs. Fitzgerald Madeville DeSmythe, a would-be society leader, Miss Cecil Hoolihan; Miss Edith Morton, Mrs. DeSmythe's rich niece from the west, Laura Zwick; Miss Mabel West, friend of Miss Morton, Lucille Zick; Miss Jane McCarron, Irish maid servant, Miss McMan; Lord Chelsea, English nobleman, John Rohan; his friend, Jack Earl, L. J. Earl.

In course of the play Miss Morton persuades her friend, Miss West, to change places with her, and Lord Chelsea and Mr. Earl decide to borrow each other's name and position for one month. In the second act, a week later, Miss West plays eavesdropper—Mr. Earl learns a great secret; and Jane makes a revelation to Mrs. DeSmythe. Act three is a week later and the complications that formed in the preceding acts are straightened out to the satisfaction of all.

Miss M. McHugh, who is directing the play, has done this work for a number of years. The play will be given at the high school auditorium. There will be several side features to the play. A quartet of the Kaukauna Men's chorus will sing. Miss Lorraine and Sherman Powers will give a dancing exhibition, and Miss Margaret Fargo will give a reading.

STERS, BROTHERS WOULD BREAK WILL OF SARAH HEGNER

Large Undue Influence Was Used When Docu- ment Was Written

After hearing testimony for a day and a half in an action brought by brothers and sisters of Sarah Hegner, who died last January, in attempt to break her will Judge V. Heinemann in county court today noon ordered an adjournment of Monday when it is expected the case will be completed.

The action was started by Henry J. John Hegner and Mrs. Herman E. Hegner, Mrs. Mathilda Muenster and Mrs. Fred Mueller, Appleton, and Mrs. Hegner, town of Grand Chute, sisters and brothers of the deceased. They charge that the will made by the sister Sarah was not duly executed according to law, that she was not of sound mind and didn't have sufficient mental capacity to make a proper will and that the will was procured by undue influence. The contested estate totals approximately $2,000 and the will disposes of it as follows:

John Hegner, $50; Sonnet, $50; Mrs. Anna Tuma, $50; Mrs. Minnie Pommeroy, $50; Herman Tesch, $200; Henry and Mrs. Sager, $300; the Rev. T. J. Sau-son, $50; Milton M. Hegner, a minor, $50 when he reaches the age of 21; Mrs. Sager, Mathilda Siebert and Mrs. Clara Vogel, personal articles. The balance of the estate, including real estate at 411 E. Atlantic, bequeathed to the Evangelical Lutheran St. Paul Congregation with provision that the house be used as a parsonage and that each year for the next ten years $200 be used as a fund to aid some needy student for his ministry.

GROWING REINDEER HERD TREK TO NEW PASTURE

Edmonton, Alberta—(AP)—Eleven thousand six hundred reindeer are going on a long trek from their Alaskan range to feeding grounds on the shore of Hudson's Bay. The herd was gathered 30 years ago with 1,240 animals as its nucleus. Natural increase accounts for the expansion in numbers and also for the movement to new fields for grazing.

The shortest and easiest route across country will be sought. Even so, the journey is expected to consume 18 months. Progress of 10 miles daily is planned, with long halts whenever necessary for rest and grazing. A complete stop will be made during the breeding seasons.

FLOOD OF BUYING ORDERS ON MARKET

Substantial Gains Spread Over Large Number of Stock Issues

New York—(AP)—The unexpectedly small increase of $54,000,000 in brokers' loans, brought a flood of buying orders into the stock market overnight and the opening was unusually strong. Purity Baking advanced 3 points to a new peak at 117 and initial gains of 2 points each were recorded by General Motors, Curtiss, Wright and Montgomery Ward. U. S. Steel Common, Chrysler, Westinghouse Electric, Houston and Lambert each advanced a point or more.

A sensational advance of nearly 20 points in Montgomery Ward, which touched a new high record at 242, featured the opening dealings. Further accumulation of the steel shares lifted U. S. Republic and Central Alloy to new high records. U. S. Steel Common also attained a new 1928 high at 157.

One block of 10,000 shares of Briggs Manufacturing changed hands at 47 1/2, followed by an advance to 47 3/4, up 1 1/2 and a new high record. Purity Baking Preferred, Brunswick-Balke-Coller and Motor Wheel also moved into new high ground.

American Lunsed quickly ran up more than 6 points and Missouri Pacific Common, Gold Dust, Vanadium Steel and Co. and Solvents climbed 2 points or more.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, although sterling cables eased slightly to $4.85 1/2, a new low level for the year.

Substantial gains were spread over a large proportion of the list amounting to as much as 4 1/2 to 7 1/2 for Wright Aero, Commercial Solvents, Russia Insurance, Purity Baking Preferred, Midland Steel Products, Preferred, Radio, Warner Brothers pictures and American Sugar. The renewal rate for call loans was unchanged at 7 1/2 per cent. Montgomery Ward settled back to 234 after an exciting session.

GIVE HANDBOOKS TO HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Pamphlet Tells Students
About School Activities and Discusses Customs

Appleton high school students were furnished with 1923 handbooks, entitled "The Blue and Orange," Thursday. The handbook contains 100 pages, 27 more than last year's issue. The book is circulated among the students through the efforts of the students council for the purpose of giving them a better conception of school life, its customs and ideals, and also to instill in him a greater interest in school activities. Editors of the 1923 handbook were Carlton Stark and Betty Meyer.

The first part of the issue deals with general administration and information, including a history of the Appleton high school and faculty notes. A complete explanation is made in regard to courses of study. It points out the most important things in the various courses, and acts as a guide for elective studies. The last two parts of the book deal with school activities and pupil guidance. Football and basketball schedules are included. Full explanation is made of social and honorary clubs in the school. Several important subjects are discussed under pupil guidance including the vocational counselor, conduct about the school, smoking, gum chewing, and code of morals.

CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE REPORTS

Six candidates had filed their post-primary election campaign expenses Friday with John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Just one of the candidates reported that she had spent any money after she made her first primary campaign expense report. That was Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, who reported she spent $4 after her first report listing expenditures of $44.65. Other who reported they had spent no more money were: Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, candidate for coroner; A. W. Jones, candidate for sheriff; A. G. Koch, candidate for register of deeds; and F. W. Giese, candidate for sheriff.

Frank Letts, rural mail carrier on route 4 at the Appleton post office, returned to work Friday following his annual 15-day vacation. Mr. Letts visited several cities in the southern part of the state. During his absence his work was done by his son, Wade Letts.

LUCILLE MEUSEL WILL APPEAR IN GREEN BAY

Miss Lucille Meusel, soprano, who made her debut with the Chicago Civic Opera Company last fall, will appear in concert at the Columbus Community club auditorium, Green Bay, Wednesday evening, Sept. 12. Tickets are now on sale at the box office.

Miss Meusel is Green Bay's first contribution to the operatic stage and indications are that Green Bay and the surrounding country will unite in awarding her another warm welcome such as was held on April 24 when she appeared there under auspices of the Knights of Columbus. Miss Meusel is contributing her services for the benefit of the community fair which is to be given at the Columbus Club the first week in October. The community fair, in turn, is being produced by the Catholic parishes of Green Bay and De Pere for the benefit of the Columbus Community club.

RECOVER STOLEN CAR AT LAKESIDE COTTAGE

A Chevrolet coach, owned by the Gibson Rental company of Appleton, and stolen from Waverly beach Wednesday evening, was recovered by Appleton police at the cottage of Dr. A. E. Adist on Lake Winnebago shortly after noon Thursday. The machine had been abandoned by the thieves and had not been damaged. The machine was recovered by Officers Albert Dellgen and Gus Hersekorn.
